City pegs $140,000 for 'Super Sewer'

City Council will be asked tonight to reconsider a resolution that would put a cap of $140,000 toward building the Romulus phase of the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System, better known as "Super Sewer."

"In approving their resolution to enter into agreement to build the sewer system, council voted to limit the city's share to $140,000," Dave Paul, Director of the Department of Public Works explained.

"We are to meet with bonding companies who will not accept this stipulation to settle this one particular point," Paul added.

The 60-mile long Super Sewer, which is 75 percent federally financed, will meander into 14 communities including Huron and Romulus in the Hannan Rd. area. It will rid one of the city's most major sewer problems — the Hannan Rd. Pump station. The station pumps raw sewage underground through a conduit and has caused some problems in recent years.

"We have had some problems with this station in the past," Paul said. "It has flooded out on us twice and we happened to catch it before it flooded the basements in the area."

"When it's out, we have to have trucks haul away the sewage until the pumps are repaired."

Although there have been some delays in the project, officials say the construction of the huge sewer system should be completed by 1990, Romulus's initial payment wouldn't be due until 1987.

Officials say that approximately 3,000 jobs will be created by the construction of the sewer in its initial phase and some 8,000 jobs over a period of two years.

For a good cause

In the fight against a dreaded disease like muscular dystrophy, every little bit counts. And Gerald Nault, President of the Progressive Club, with Elvera Fischer, Romulus' chairman for the M.D. drive, at his side presents 6-year-old Ronnie Caldwell with a check to help find a cure for the disease. Progressive Club members have contributed to the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation for the past 20 years, while Ms. Fischer has served as chairman for the campaign for 24 consecutive years.

Future of Romulus schools in the hands of court system

School officials in Romulus will return to the drawing boards next week in an attempt to put together the peices of a shattering defeat at the polls which saw the hopes and dreams of resurrecting school district die.

On June 13, voters in the school district turned down requests for a 3-mill tax hike for school operations and proposals for money to remove asbestos from the high school and replace roofs.

Approximately 10 percent of the registered voters took part in the annual school election.

The bond issue can't reappear on the ballot, according to law, for at least six-months after its defeat. The wording would have to be radically changed.

"We're going to have to sit down with the bond people and talk about our options," said Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent of Romulus Schools. "We can't come back with the same bond issue for six months."

But the voters will see some other tax increase proposals in the near future, Dr. Bedell said.

"The problem with the asbestos is if we can't correct it now, we will not be able to do so until next summer because of the condition of the roofs," Dr. Bedell added.

"The disposition of these lawsuits could determine whether our school district will have to close or not." — Dr. Bedell Hanging over the school district are two crucial lawsuits. The teachers are suing the Board of Education for violation of their contract, while the board is suing the State of Michigan for violating the State Constitution.

Teachers in the school district have taken the administration to court over a 22 percent salary roll-back and also have filed unfair labor practices with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission. They have also appealed to the Tenure Commission on the grounds that there have been alleged demotions.

In the meantime, the school district has taken the state to task for violating its own Constitution, arguing that the state legislature is under-funding in-formula school districts thereby denying children equal education under the law.

"The disposition of these lawsuits could determine whether our school district will have to close or not," Dr. Bedell said.

The school board is to meet on Monday to try to pick up the shattered pieces caused by the resounding defeat last week.

Special meeting tonight

Mahalak warns city to act on debt retirement

After meeting with the City Council and the city administration during a special meeting last Tuesday and left "with the impression that the Romulus elected officials don't really understand the serious problems that Romulus is involved with the mishandling of debt retirement funds," State Representative Edward E. Mahalak urged the city to act on its water-sewer debt retirement payment plan before the June 30 deadline.

The Attorney General's Office in March ordered the city to submit to it a plan by which it proposed to transfer to the Sewer Debt Retirement Fund approximately $1.9 million that the city had borrowed over the past 20 years.

In 1981, the council approved the transfer of the funds from the Debt Service Fund to other funds.

Members of council and the administration were joined by Loren Monroe, Deputy Treasurer, Michigan Treasury Department, and John Tate, treasury auditor, Local Government Audit Department, to discuss the situation.

"I told council it will have to bite the bullet," said Mahalak, "and that they will have to restore the funds. And once they (the city) had balanced the account, then they will have to go back to balance the general fund."

In his letter to William M. Oakley, Mayor of Romulus, Mahalak stated:

"I get the impression that the Romulus elected officials don't really understand the serious problems that Romulus is involved with in the mishandling of debt retirement funds."

"Two recent Acts, Public Act 469 of 1982 and Public Act 16 of 1983 say that the officer who wilfully fails to perform his or her function shall personally be liable to a bond holder for loss or damages arising out of his or her failure."

"The city must submit a plan as to how it is to restore the funds," the letter continued. "I am quite surprised that the city officials are well aware that it must restore funds to the account and yet are spending dollars in apparent disregard or insensitive to the seriousness of the situation. With this attitude, I thought it would be best to write my concerns that if an immediate pay back is ordered, the city will find itself scrambling to restore funds," Mahalak's letter said.

Patsy K. Cantrell, Finance Director for the city, has submitted a "Proposed Repayment Plan for Water Debt Service" that the administration is studying and the council is considering. No action has been taken on the plan, however.

"I proposed a repayment schedule of eight to 10 years," Ms. Cantrell stressed, "with no interest charges. The Municipal Finance Commission originally proposed a one-to-three year repayment schedule. After much discussion of the financial consequences of each plan to the city, the commission indicated that a five year repayment schedule, with interest, was the maximum repayment period they would allow."

"I have attempted to include all relevant information with the plan ... the adoption of the plan would

Caring for autistic children — fitting peace into the puzzle

By JERRY DesHARNAIS
(Special ANP Writer)

Marie worked the puzzle. She eyed each piece close to a possible slot, fitting it or rejecting it decisively.

"Work the puzzle," someone said.

"Work the puzzle," Marie repeated.

The puzzle, three-fourths completed, showed Donald Duck holding up a steak with a fork over a flaming barbecue in the backyard. Donald has an annoyed look on his face.

Over his shoulder his three nephews are shown roaring into the backyard in a little firetruck to put out the fire, or eat, or both.

Marie got up from the puzzle and walked across the living room toward this reporter. She smiled and said: "Work the puzzle."

Marie has very lovely brown eyes, a warm, likeable smile and a sparkle in her face which is unusual for one who has her problem.

She went back to her puzzle and quickly completed it, and stood up proudly when praised for doing it.

Marie held the puzzle up by her fingertips like a painting and immediately folded it back into its box, the pieces scattering until another day.

The fire scene of the puzzle has an unavoidable irony. The home in which Marie now lives with four other young women, on Dickinson Road in Huron Township, was burnt to the ground a year ago this July. Arson was determined.

But that is a thing of the past. It is now a puzzle for the fire officials to figure out.

The house was rebuilt in a few months and Marie and her four friends are happy in their new home. They go to school every day and when they come home they do puzzles, eat supper, and are given personal attention.

They are autistic.

This is a disease few people know about because few are afflicted with it — about 5 in 10,000.

It derives from a birth abnormality — possibly a neurological disorder, or a deficit in the chemical production.

Children who are autistic are described as people who have difficulty relating to their environment.

That could apply to many disorders. But it's accurate.

Autistic people tend to be withdrawn, or distracted. Yet, they can have certain skills, even to a high degree, which surface during a moment of clarity. Jack, for instance, who lives in another home with five autistic men on Merriman Road, has been known to add up a whole column of three-digit figures almost in an instant.

But Jack's knack is not typical. In fact, of the 11 autistic men and women at the two homes, only seven are verbal.

And their verbal ability, if they do have it, is echolalic — the tendency to repeat words and phrases spoken by other people.

So in an autistic home part of the patten of daily conversation is repetition of words and phrases of praise and orders from their direct care workers.

Ritualism is another attribute of the autistic.

Just as a normal person would expect order and neatness in a room, so does the autistic but to an extreme degree.

For instance, when cleaning the home on Meriman, the care workers tell the six residents to move the chairs from the dining room table into the hallway during cleaning.

They carry the chairs to the hall as directed, but they put the chairs in an absolutely perfect line, not scattered about. There must be sameness.

A disturbance in routine is confusing and difficult to handle.

When playing dominoes, as one can imagine, the rectangles and the dots are a picture of precision.

Keeping the homes neat is no problem.

Belleville scholars are Germany-bound

Two Belleville High School students, senior Tami Vicchy and junior John Coleman, will leave June 27 to spend a month in the small German town of Friedberg near Augsburg.

Tami and Coleman are participating in a west German Government sponsored American Youth Exchange Program. The program's goal is to enable young American students to live with a German family and attend a German High School, which also are called gymnasiums.

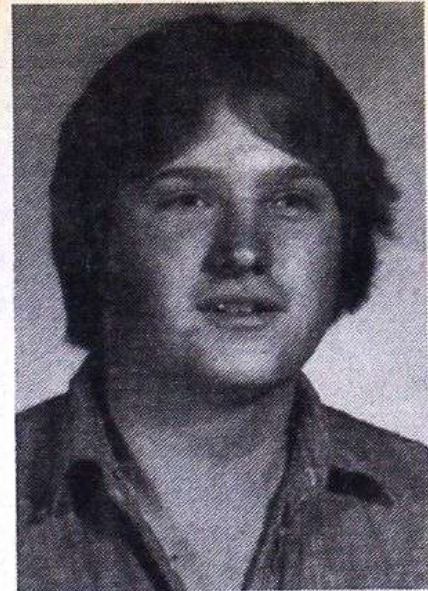

Tami has had 3 years of high school German and John is just finishing his second year.

Tami and John are joining selected students from Grosse Pointe and Birmingham on this study-trip.

The German families have already contacted the Vicchy and Coleman families and are anxiously awaiting their American guests. Tami and John have been looking forward to this trip and are brushing-up on German phrases, which they will soon put into action. I wish them "Gute Reise".

Travel warning

Urging Michigan travelers to cooperate in promoting traffic safety over the July 4th weekend, the State Police reported special patrol attention would be given to heavy traffic periods and those highway sections having bad accident records.

Col. Gerald L. Hough, State Police Director, stated that "OPERATION CARE" will again be in effect for the holiday weekend, providing almost 3,000 hours of overtime for traffic patrol in an effort to keep holiday traffic deaths and injuries to a minimum.

Hough further asked that motorists be especially watchful for motorcycles, after a tragic Memorial Day weekend for motorcyclists during which six of the 11 persons killed were driving or riding a motorcycle. Of the 30 persons who lost their lives over the 1982 July 4th weekend in Michigan, four of the victims were motorcyclists.

In cooperation with "OPERATION CARE", about 50 volunteer organizations will set up traffic safety breaks in highway rest areas across Michigan. These volunteers serve hot and cold beverages free of charge, giving motorists a break

Sumpter has had it with dumps

partnership with Sumpter," said Follmer.

"We're satisfied without MGW's revenue," retorted Trustee Virgil Humphries.

Increased noise and stench, the closeness (within 1 1/2 miles) to an already existing landfill, and heavy traffic on roads near the proposed dump were among objections raised by Sumpter residents.

The fear of hazardous waste materials was also mentioned by several residents, though Follmer told the audience his firm was licensed only to handle non-hazardous materials. "We will absolutely not deal in toxic materials," he emphasized.

The meeting is a result of recent strategy adopted by MGW, which has been battling over the proposed landfill since 1976, the year the company was issued a license for the site by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. In 1981, MGW lost two lawsuits against Sumpter Township to allow excavation and dumping to take place at the site.

Currently, MGW is seeking inclusion in Wayne County's 20-year solid waste management plan that the Solid Waste Management Committee is currently developing. Inclusion in the plan, in addition to the DNR license, would amount to legal approval to operate the landfill, according to MGW attorney Rodger Young.

Township Supervisor Jim Reeves said he is actively urging the Solid Waste Management Committee to rule against MGW's participation. A decision could be reached any time soon, Reeves added. He emphasized: "They are not going to put another dump in Sumpter Township as long as I'm in office."

For their part, MGW officials appeared unworried about their less than friendly reception. "People everywhere object to locations of dumps," said Fullmer after the meeting. He added he was "optimistic" of his firm's chances for success.

MGW officials said that they operate other landfills, but refused to provide further details.

Commissioners dust off county road problems with a resolution

Complaints by area residents about dusty roads and the health hazard they cause apparently hit home as the Wayne County Road Commission will attempt to solve the problem, according to a release today from the county commissioner.

Saying testimony by Wayne County Road Commission officials revealed that the Road Commission could chloride dust-clogged roads this summer.

County Commissioner Milton Mack offered a resolution which was adopted by the Public Works Committee of the Wayne County Commission which urges that the Road Commission reinstate the program of treating local township roads with at least one application of chloride at county expense.

Road Commission officials admitted that although Michigan Transportation Fund revenues remain constant, the Board of Road Commissioners reduced the spending on the local road systems from $4.2 million to $3.4 million, a difference of $800,000. The Road Commission maintained that they are operating from a budget which is the same as last year and will be the same next year.

The Road Commission proposed a solution in which they would match funds with the townships up to $400,000.

"If they, the Road Commission, can spend an additional $400,000 on local roads next year, with the same budget, they can do it this year," responded Commissioner Mack. "The Road Commission's claim of lacking funds just doesn't add up."

New sport — sails on Belleville Lake

By JEFF JUTERBOCK
ANP Special Writer

The first board sailing regatta in Belleville Lake, set up by the owner of Country Sports to run during the Strawberry Festival, didn't have as many entries as he'd expected, but he wasn't disappointed.

Gil Schmitt, who owns the store at 533 Main Street, said the event had 24 participants in two races, instead of 30 or 40, as he'd expected. But, he felt it went "extremely well" anyway as people were at the lake to watch because of the Strawberry Festival.

"It didn't get the response I thought we'd get because of a big race (the same day) in E. Tawas," Schmitt said.

Schmitt decided to set up the boardsailing contest — which is a cross between sailing and surfing — because he thought it would give a nice image to the Festival. He is also hoping that the event will grow bigger in successive years and maybe someday establish Belleville Lake as a big area for water fun.

"We hope to draw people in the suburbs to enjoy the lake," Schmitt said.

Schmitt said the sport has all the relaxing characteristics of sailing, but the physical characteristics of surfing also. He added that this mix makes it a "very dynamic sport." And, you don't need a heavy wind, but a nice steady breeze.

Schmitt cautions that this is not something any athlete can just start doing. It's something that requires lessons, to learn sailing technique and balance.

The first place finisher was Haugen Minter of Charlevoix, and the first six finishers won prizes.

Entrants paid a $15 registration fee which included a Country Sports T-shirt and an ice cream social.

Schmitt said the event was "really enjoyable to watch", for the first year.

"I'm not disappointed with the turnout, the sport's new and growing," he explained.

For next year, Schmitt plans to publicizing it earlier and hopefully it will grow.

Schmitt spent five years as director of training for Sports Illustrated. He also spent time as a professional racquetball player, in 1977-78 he was state champion of Michigan. Prior to that, he served as physical director of a YMCA in Chicago. And now, he's trying to get watersports established in Belleville.

"I opened this (store) two years ago because I thought a water sports business on the lake was very viable and I wanted a business," he said.

Class action suit for chloride

Lilly Davis, a Sumpter resident. "The dust on the road is just making them cough and choke."

Another resident, Roy Dane, called the dust build-up "A safety hazard and a health hazard. How can we talk about cost when people's health is involved?" he asked.

A representative from the Wayne County Road Commission, Bob Mahoney, told the audience the road commission could no longer afford to pay for the chloriding. "Our revenues haven't gone up one iota in the past 11 years, due to expenses," he said. The road commission's revenues come from gasoline taxes and license plate fees.

Mahoney, an engineer, also pointed out the road commission had announced its change in policy two years ago. In response to residents' questions, he said he didn't know if there were sufficient savings, as a result of the mild 1983 winter, to allow the road commission to pay for chloriding Sumpter's roads.

Sumpter Township residents at the meeting agreed to turn out in full force for a special meeting with road commission representatives, scheduled for June 21 at 8 p.m. in the Sumpter Municipal building. "We're going to fight this thing and win," said Lilly Davis.

Group homes in Huron

Laura enters the living room of the home on Dickinson and straightens a doormat, adjusts a roll of paper towels in the kitchen, closes a bathroom door, and then straightens a piece of paper on the bulletin board, in quick succession.

The residents in these two homes range in age from 19 to 28.

Until 10 years ago, they would have been cared for within their own families, or more likely, in an institution such as the Northville Residential Training Center or the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Typically, an autistic child in this the house to the community mental health organization which would help pay for the house.

They received approval and put a down payment on a home for $38,000, on a land contract, in Inkster.

The agreement was that the Angellotti's 19-year-old son, the youngest of four children, would reside in the special home with five autistic children from Northville.

The project was a success. The children were no longer in the back wards. They went to school, to stores, like normal children, and to bed at night in their own home.

"What this showed to the State is that the autistic individual," said Rosemary Angellotti, "could benefit and grow in this environment."

Moreover, it was cheaper. It cost only half what the state would spend if the child were institutionalized.

There are now four homes for the autistic in the metropolitan Detroit area. One is in Birmingham, one in Inkster, and two in Huron Township.

The two in Huron Township were established by Homes for the Autistics, Inc., which the Angellotti's founded.

In both instances, the homes were purchased by an investor, a parent with an autistic child who is placed in the home with other autistics from Plymouth and Northville or the Southgate Regional Center.

The first home was set up on Merriman Road, a spacious $85,000 ranch-type home. It opened in January, 1981, with Albert Menefee as administrator.

All of its residents are men. There is Phil who is 23. He is verbal. Phil occasionally approaches a care worker to smell their hair.

There is Jack, age 27, with the mathematical ability. He is high functionally and verbal, but he is not conversational.

There is Tim, 28, who needs supervision. He has no motivation and relates only to his mother.

Robert is 25. He is the son of the investor, the man who purchased the home. Robert has acute hearing ability and can hear the slightest sound.

Of them all, Bart, 22, is most cooperative and most domesticated.

The administrator, Menefee, has been working with developmentally disabled youngsters for 13 years.

He was born in Hartford, Conn., and educated at the City University of New York where he received his B.A. degree in psychology. Menefee, 35, spent 9½ years working with delinquent children in New York.

He was chosen from some 60 applicants and 10 interviewees to head up the homes for the autistics in Huron Township.

He supervises 17 employees. Fourteen of these workers are direct care workers, working directly with the autistic residents.

Typically, they are people with limited experience working with developmentally disabled and are picking up their training under Menefee's supervision.

Some are liberal arts students in local colleges with motives of getting into social work, and some are high school graduates interested in the work.

In the Merriman home, called Georgeville, there is one Senior Worker. She is Michele Rolak, 21, of Trenton.

Michele was asked to describe a resident, the one who most impresses her - it is Phil.

"Usually, he doesn't like females," Michele said. "When I first started he was mean to me."

"And I would just go sit and talk with him when he was being good ... and now I can really do anything I want with him. I can take him in the van, by myself. I guess he respects me now because he realizes I'm not going to hurt him ..."

"It took probably about a year to finally get through to him ..."

"If he was mean or something I would just completely ignore him and he'd think, well, she's leaving. For instance, if I were in his bedroom doing his hair and he'd start being mean I'd leave and he would come running over saying 'Do your hair, do your hair' ..."

Why is it that Michele likes Phil more than any others?

"I would think (because) he talks," Michele answered. "If I ask him 'How's my boyfriend?', he'll say 'How's my girlfriend?' and he isn't echolalic with that."

"If I say 'How's dinner?', he'll say 'It's good.'"

"One day," Michele continued, "I bought him a candy bar and he didn't know I had it. So I pulled it out of the bag and I said 'What's that?' and he would usually say 'What's that?' but he said 'That's a candy bar!'"

"It's stuff like that that made me like him," Michele said. "But otherwise he repeats everything you say."

Perhaps that anecdote explains more than anything why autistic children are ignored to the point of cruelty in institutions where the large staff of workers with a regimented workload simply do not have time to be human with each individual patient.

In the Georgeville and Juliann homes in Huron Township they do. And occasionally their hard work pays off with a sudden remark which is greeted like sunshine.

From that, human warmth grows, and the dignity which follows.

Al Menefee and his crew of 17 have not been alone. They have received support from the community.

In Huron Township there is a Community Advisory Board of eight people which serves as a communication link between the community and the Homes for the Autistics, Inc.

Mary Chihan is the chairperson of the group which includes Mary Lou Carey, Secretary; and Carl Dubke, Doug Clark, Doris Davis, Beverly Kummerfeldt, Louis Little, and Ralph Sholar.

This group held a meeting on June 21, for instance, to discuss the community concerns relating to the group homes in the area.

There have been some kindness from neighbors.

Ron and Stephanie Dober have made their farm and their riding horses available to the autistic residents during outings.

And they are real "neighbors" — their 16-acre farm is located on the corner of Sibley and Merriman Roads across from the Georgeville autistic home.

The Inkster Recreational Complex has allowed the women residents to play basketball for free.

Mid-Sibley Party Store on the corner of Middlebelt and Sibley have been considerate when the residents come to buy there.

They have received some free bowling at the Taylor Bowling Lanes and some free produce on occasion at Billy-Jo's Produce Market at Inkster and Eureka. More important, they have been treated kindly.

At the end of their day, after their school and lunches and puzzles and outings, it is a bath at 9 p.m. for each, and toothbrushing and then to bed around 10 or 11 p.m.

Except for Gina. She stays up late and talks a bit and does more puzzles.

The Care workers at Juliann like her a lot. When she had come home from school in the afternoon the two care workers, Darlene Vermett, 25, of Romulus, and Jim Goepfert, 28, of Flat Rock, brightened up.

They introduced Gina and she said hello 10 times and everybody laughed good naturedly.

"She can be as good as gold some days," said Goepfert. "And bad other days ... tipping furniture and demanding food."

Gina comes from a family that has not had much luck. She has two brothers who are mentally retarded, on a higher functional level than autistics.

"She understands everything you say," said Goepfert.

And like the other autistics, she is harmless.

"Sometimes when you're working midnights, she talks to you and you're glad she is up. She's a comfort to have around."

Which is the nicest compliment an autistic child could possibly receive, and does receive on occasion in the two little homes on Merriman and Dickinson roads in Huron Township.

And it's hard work. There are weeks when Al Menefee does not put in 40 hours but twice that.

One night he sat down to dinner with a friend after a hard day's work and he received a phone call regarding Donna who needed some emergency medication at a hospital.

He sped from his dinner to the hospital to take care of the legal details and make sure everything was all right. He didn't get home until midnight.

It's part of the job, taking care of the autistics, or giving them a "huggy". That's what Phil likes and is asked for - a huggy.

Phil is the one who likes Beatle music. He can even sing some of the words of "Hard Day's Night."

"It's been a ..." the care worker starts.

"... hard day's night," Phil completes the phrase.

"I've been working ..." the care worker continues.

"... like a dog," Phil finishes the famous line.

"We do everything for the children that we would do for our own children," said Al Menefee.

Michigan my Michigan

In conjunction with Michigan Week, the English Department at Romulus High School held an essay contest and the theme, "Michigan, My Michigan" was selected. Students response was excellent, school officials say, and the judges singled out three winners: first place, Marc Marsiglia; second place, Rose Baxter; and third place, Sheryl Paton. Pictured above are Miss Paton (from left), Steven Hobbs, assistant principal at the high school, Ms. A. Scott, English Department chairperson, Marsiglia and Rose Marie Baxter.

PCHA's Pizzimenti is recipient of MHA inaugural award

The first recipient of the newly-created Hospital Governance Award of the Michigan Hospital Association (MHA) is Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) Board Chairman Donald J. Pizzimenti.

MHA President Robert Laverly and Hospital Governance Chairperson Joyce Bolo presented Pizzimenti with the statewide honor at the recent Medical Staff/Trustee/Administrator Forum in Boye Falls.

The award will be given out annually to a Michigan Hospital trustee who demonstrates exemplary contributions to improving hospital services and health care on the local, state and national level.

Pizzimenti was nominated for the award by the PCHA Board, "based on his 17 years of outstanding service and leadership as Board member and chairman, his active participation in the American Hospital Association, Michigan Hospital Association, Greater Detroit Area Health Council, and Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, as well as the multitude of other volunteer community activities that demonstrate his life-long commitment to improving the quality of life for all persons."

The criteria for the award placed specific emphasis on contributions to health care during the past three years. During that period of time, Pizzimenti provided leadership on the PCHA Board in areas such as long range service planning, cooperative planning with other health care providers, quality assurance, trustee education and public accessibility.

On a regional basis, Pizzimenti served as vice-chairman of the task force of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council that recommended expanding the scope of the council to involve not only providers, but purchasers and consumers of health care services. That effort resulted in the change of the name of the organization to the Greater Detroit Area Health Council, with a corresponding re-direction and expansion in its purpose and nature. Pizzimenti has served as an active board and committee members of GDAHC for 16 years.

Additionally, he has been involved in work with the Michigan Hospital Association, as a member of the Federal Legislation and Hospital Governance Committees.

On a national level, Pizzimenti serves as Regional Chairman for Region 5 of the American Hospital Association, and as member of the National Council of Hospital Governing Boards. Part of his duties in this role involve traveling extensively throughout the country speaking to groups of hospital trustees on their changing roles and responsibilities.

Pizzimenti was recently appointed to the Multi-Hospital System National Advisory Committee of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH).

Other volunteer activities include Pizzimenti's community work as board member of the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, his long-time work with the United Foundation and United Way of Michigan, for which he was selected in 1982 as the first recipient of the Outstanding Volunteer Award.

Pizzimenti is employed by the Detroit Edison Company, as Vice President, Community and Governmental Affairs. He and his wife, Jewel, reside in Allen Park.

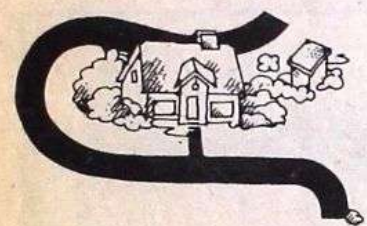

His name will be inscribed on the MHA plaque that will be permanently displayed at MHA headquarters, and the names of future award recipients will be added.

State would be put in such a place at age 6 or 7. Since autistics tend to be non-verbal and ritualistic, workers at an institution find it easy to ignore them. Because of this lack of attention, the autistic develops very bizarre and abnormal behavioural patterns.

More likely than not, you would have found the autistic child neglected in some back ward, heavily medicated.

The two homes for autistics in Huron Township are part of a movement to take patients from institutions and place them in home environments.

The thinking is that keeping people in an institution only aggravates their disorders. By putting them in a nourishing, normal environment they would improve.

Generally it has proven a success. In the case of the autistics, the placing of them in homes began in Michigan in the 70s, shortly after the first chapter of the National Society for Autistic Persons was formed in Wayne County.

Dr. Angelo Angellotti, and his wife Rosemary, the parents of an autistic child, were instrumental in the founding of the chapter. They reside in Allen Park.

In 1976, they and 12 other couples, also parents of autistics, came up with the idea of buying a home, providing it with a professional staff, licensed by the state, and leasing

Van Buren will pay to chloride roads

Taking into consideration the health and welfare of township residents, Van Buren Township officials yesterday announced that they would foot the bill for chloriding the roads.

"We're going to do the township roads," said George Craven, township supervisor, "and try to find the money later to pay for it."

"We're going to bite the bullet on this one," Craven continued, "and it's going to cost us approximately $9,800 for this one shot deal."

There have been several complaints because of the dust on the roads, especially in the Tyler area. The county has agreed to go 50-50 on expenses for roads they have chlorided in the past, township officials said.

But Craven said if only one section of the township receives the chloride treatment, officials will incur the wrath of those in the other section of the township.

Craven will be attending meetings with area township officials and the county to see if they can resolve the dust-on-road problem. The county has told the townships that they couldn't do the work this year because of the lack of funds.

"They have just dumped this on us and the surrounding townships," Craven lamented. "We say that the chloriding of the roads is the function of the County Road Commission."

Debt retirement

include approval of all elements that is in the letter to the county requesting excess bond proceeds, interfund repayments, appropriate water/sewer rate increases, etc. necessary to implement the plan.

"Although I do not agree with the particular terms of this repayment plan, I am certain that the repayment of these monies, elimination of the deficits and elimination of the confusing array of due to/due from accounts are in the best interest of the city."

"My concern is not with the repayment, but with the potential cash shortages resulting from repayment within a two/five year period of time," Cantrell's memorandum to the mayor concluded.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry stressed that the people of Romulus shouldn't have to pay for something it has paid for over the past two decades. He pointed out that the administration's request to hike water-sewer rates is "ridiculous".

The investigation by the Attorney General's Office and the Department of Treasury's Audit Division has shown that there has been misappropriations of the water-sewer debt retirement fund to the tune of $1.5 million if not more.

"The administration has proposed to pay this money back to the debt retirement fund over the next five years with a total interest charge of $188,323 for the total cash required of $1,527,789 Raspberry said.

Raspberry called it a "hoax" because "that, since the people of this city have paid for this system over the past 25 years that any more assessment on the people would be an extended and an unnecessary burden on our taxpayers."

"This hoax must come to an end immediately," he added.

Mayor Oakley has called a special meeting of council for tonight at 8 p.m. On the agenda will be the question of the sewer-water debt retirement fund and the Huron Valley Waste Water (Super Sewer) System.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Heading for Dallas

The first Romulus Reserve Police Officer to be promoted to Sergeant, Frank Schick, 46, of 34717 Michele Drive, Romulus was recently transferred to Dallas, Texas. And the transfer caused his resignation from the Romulus Police Department Reserves. Since May of 1981, Sgt. Schick and Sgt. Robert Pressler have served in a co-leadership role for the reserves. "His leadership abilities were very important to the success of the reserves," Flood added. For seven years Schick served in the reserve program where he donated between 300 to 500 hours a year. "The city is indebted to Mr. Schick for his many contributions to the community," Chief Flood concluded.

Police petition for personnel

Wayne patrol officers and their supporters have launched a petition drive seeking the hiring of three police officers.

Patrolman Dan Randall, president of the Wayne Police Officers Association, said Wayne residents will be asked to request that the Wayne City Council fill the three patrol positions eliminated from the recently approved 1983-84 municipal budget. Money for the hirings — an estimated $120,000 — would come from the city's anticipated fund balance of $300,000, Randall explained.

"Our goal is 5,000 signatures to be presented to the council next month," said Randall, following a meeting of officers and citizens last Friday.

Randall and Patrolman Bob McIntyre, vice-president of the officers' union, have criticized city officials for endangering the safety of the community and the officers by their elimination of the three positions. The officers have told the council that grievances will be filed to protect the city's remaining 16 patrol officers.

Police supporters recently debated the issue with council and administration members during a public hearing held at the Community Center, where it was suggested that a drive be launched to seek a one-mill tax hike for police and fire operations. Police officers later rejected the proposal.

City Manager Thomas Daily has noted that the police positions have been vacant for months and are part of an austerity budget which includes elimination of seven full-time positions throughout the city.

Wayne's $7.3 million budget appropriates approximately $2 million for police operations, nearly 28 percent of all annual expenditures. The total department work force includes 34 sworn officers.

The budget calls for a property tax levy of 17.74 mills, compared to the existing 17.8 mill rate.

It would appear that the roads in Canton Township will be treated with a chloride solution this year...but there will be a price to pay for the service.

Township Supervisor James Poole explained to the members of the Board of Trustees at the regular meeting Tuesday evening, that his negotiations and attempts to reach an agreement with the county now required a decision from them as to the amount they would be willing to pay for the service.

Responsibility for the chloride treatment rests clearly with the county, according to Poole and other township officials, but the Wayne County Road Commission has repeatedly explained that reductions in taxes from gasoline and road use have made the service economically impossible.

"The members of the road commission were directed by County Executive Bill Lucas to find the money and chloride the roads — and he also directed the Air Pollution Control Board to stop giving us tickets and give them to the road commission, too," Poole said. "The only problem is, they don't think they work for him yet and that could be a long court battle. In the meantime, look at our roads," Poole said.

Poole explained that negotiations to date had resulted in an agreement to split the cost for the treatments with the county. "They have said they will go for one type of split for cost with all the communities involved, whether it's 50-50, 70-30, we don't know. I know that they want one agreement with all communities who need the services. They won't go 50-50 with one and 70-30 with another," he told the board.

Township Clerk John Flodin proposed that the board authorize a 50-50 split with the county. "I'm not totally satisfied with this deal, but I am of the persuasion that some action is demanded. It's a crisis situation out there and we don't have the luxury of time to deliberate any more. It's a threat to the health, safety and welfare of our community. It's a hazard to drive out there," Flodin stated emphatically.

Trustee Robert Padgett suggested that Flodin's resolution be reworded to indicate that Canton Township would participate in an amount not to be greater than 50 percent of the chloriding cost.

The board discussed the total cost of the program for the 39.4 miles of roads where it is necessary within township boundaries and the various types of solutions that could be applied, depending on weather conditions and the road itself. The total cost allocated by the trustees was finally determined at a maximum of $60,000 which will be transferred from a surplus budget account into a specific account for dust control. The board expects to be able to provide two applications of chloride this year for the amount budgeted, provided Poole is successful in his negotiations with the county officials.

Trustee Stephen Larson explained what he felt, "Either we have to do it, it's that critical for the health, safety and welfare of our community, or we go to court. Most important of all, we have to get it done," he concluded.

Lost purse, cash returned

Usually a lost purse containing more than $100 doesn't find its original owner.

In this day and age, a little less than a miracle is needed for that to happen.

However, that small miracle did occur last week to a Taylor woman.

Sharon Doty reported to Romulus police that her purse containing two check-books, $130 in cash and an assortment of personal papers and identifications was lost.

Later in the day all of her property was returned — intact. She told police that she was so happy to receive her property that she failed to obtain the good samaritan's name.

Yes, there are still a lot of good people out there.

Although the budget has been ratified, Mayor Patrick Norton recently pointed out that adjustments to the system occur throughout the year.

Michigan National Corporation Banks Reach Record Highs

The Michigan National Corporation banks have reached record highs at April 30, 1983 in terms of assets, deposits, and loans. Depositor Protection Accounts for that period also reached an all time high at $479 million which is 7.1% of total assets. This is an increase of $10.9 million since year end 1982. Depositor Protection Accounts are made up of the sum of equity, debt capital, and reserves which are all subordinate to depositors' claims.

During its 10 year history Michigan National Corporation has grown into one of Michigan's major statewide banking groups with 363 approved banking offices serving 2.6 million customers, and has built one of the USA's largest automated teller machine (ATM) networks with over 700 ATM's statewide.

Building in Romulus

Romulus' newest business, the Roger's Construction Company, opened its doors recently at 28486 Beverly (above photo) and on hand for the traditional ribbon-cutting ceremonies were city officials and councilmen

Peter Bergeron (from left), Roger Corsi, owner of the company, Mayor William Oakley, Gloria Corsi, Roger's lovely wife, councilman Bary Baumann, and an unidentified guest. The company employs six workers.

$500 bid purchase of land stirs argument

A prominent Inkster businessman's $500 offer to purchase approximately two-thirds of an acre of Inkster Road property raised quite a few eyebrows at the last council meeting.

Willie C. Williams, a real estate man and developer, was denied in his bid to purchase the 180-foot frontage just north of Avondale on a 5-2 vote. Mayor William Daniels and Councilman Joseph Davis were in favor of selling the land because it is adjacent to the Perrin Drain and makes much of the property unusable.

However, Councilmen Jim Coleran, Willie Johnson, Ernest Hendricks, Patrick O'Neil and Robert Cullen voiced strong objection to what they called "a ridiculously low bid." Johnson even went so far as to say, "This bid is an insult to our intelligence and I demand an apology from the bidder."

The estimated market value of the 180 by 153-foot parcel is $14,600. However, the Perrin Drain cuts a 15-foot easement swath from the southeast corner at Inkster Road to the northwest corner at the rear of the property, making it impossible to build on much of the property. In addition, the buyer would have to pay for installing sewers — a cost estimated at approximately $7,000.

It was these two obstacles to the property — the Perrin Drain and lack of sewers — which Davis and Mayor Daniels used in support of their argument to sell the land for what most observers felt was an extremely low price.

"It will cost $6,000 to $7,000 to put in sewers," Davis told his colleagues at the council table. "This land has been owned by the city as long as I can remember and it's just not economically feasible to hang onto this property. We can get some tax revenue if the one-bedroom apartments are built as Mr. Williams proposes."

Mayor Daniels added, "This property has been around since day one and has never been sold. It's better to sell it and get it on the tax rolls." Daniels chided Councilman Johnson for asking Williams to apologize for the amount of his bid. "A bidder can bid any amount he wants to," Daniels told Johnson.

Roger's Construction

Cement company moves to Romulus

The Corsis are optimistic about the construction business. In fact, Roger Corsi predicts a boom coming in the home and cement industry.

And that is one major reason why Roger Corsi, longtime owner of Roger's Construction & Cement Company, has moved to Romulus.

"Life has been good to me and my family," Corsi says, "and I believe in this country. It has had its ups-and-downs, but there's nothing like this any place in the world."

Corsi, who learned the construction business from his father, and has been employed in the construction and working trades since 1949, recently built and moved into the company offices to 28486 Beverly.

A graduate of Fordson High School, Roger was taken under his father, Anthony's wing, at an early age and was taught that there is no substitute for hard and honest labor. He's built custom homes and had done restoration cement work for many cities, including Dearborn, Garden City, Westland, Dearborn Heights and Taylor.

At the offices in Romulus, Corsi employs six persons who have a wide range of tasks.

Married to Gloria, the Corsis have five children: Carolyn, Susan, Roger Jr., Randy and Lori Ann. They also have three grandchildren.

"When he dies," Mrs. Corsi quipped at a recent grand opening for the business, "his epitaph should read that he has laid down more cement than anyone I know."

Holiday Inn to replace its 'Great Sign' at Metro Airport

Holiday Inns, Inc. has replaced the company's "Great Sign" at Detroit Metropolitan Airport — the 43-foot-tall green, yellow and orange neon sign, with its flashing arrow and blazing star — which for 30 years has pointed travelers to Holiday Inn hotels.

The venerable roadside emblem has been supplanted by a modern, rectangular-shaped sign that features a modified Holiday Inn script logo in white on a field of green. An orange and yellow graphic element, a modification of the Great Sign's crowning starburst, is centered on the sign face above the script.

Holiday Inns officials estimate that the majority of the hotel system's existing signs will be replaced by the end of 1985, with conversion at the approximately 230 company-owned and -managed hotels worldwide to be completed within the next two and half years.

"We are changing our sign in order to project a more contemporary image that better reflects our hotel chain's current range of property types, customer base and product quality," said James L. Schorr, president of Holiday Inns' Hotel Group.

In the decade after the first Holiday Inn hotel was built in 1952, the company's primary customers were families traveling by automobile. The Great sign, so named because of its imposing size and high roadside visibility, served to generate business from passers-by, who originally represented nearly 95 percent of the chain's customers.

Holiday Inn hotels' popularity with business travelers, however, has increased significantly since the early 1970s. Today, more than 85 percent of Holiday Inn hotel roomnights are sold to business travelers or to couples traveling without children, and less than 3 percent of customers are "walk-ins" without reservations.

Since the mid-'70s, the Holiday Inn hotel system has responded to this shift in customer base and travel patterns, as well as to the increasing expectations of today's travelers, by upgrading the quality of its product through new development, refurbishments and the removal of hotels that do not meet the chain's strict standards and market requirements.

The Great Sign, which was designed for America's first interstate highways as a means of promoting the company's early two-story U-shaped roadside motels, now is found in a variety of location types ranging from high-rise urban properties to resort locations in 56 countries and territories throughout the world.

"Holiday Inn is one of the world's most famous trademarks, and while we recognized the need to modernize our image, it was important that we retain our Holiday Inn logo," Schorr said. "The solution was to redesign its packaging."

The new sign, which has a T-shaped frame topped by a round-edged rectangular sign face, was created by S&O Consultants in San Francisco. A national sample of lodgers who had spent four or more nights in a hotel during the previous 12 months indicated they preferred the new sign on the basis of "overall appeal" by a three-to-one margin over Holiday Inns' existing sign.

Aesthetics aside, the new sign incorporates considerable practical improvements. Gone are the 836 feet of neon tubing and 426 incandescent bulbs; in their place is more subdued fluorescent backlighting that is projected to be 65-75 percent more energy-efficient. According to company officials, average annual maintenance costs should be reduced by at least 55 percent, and the cost of erecting the new sign is estimated to be 34 percent less than that required for the Great Sign: $23,000 compared with the current $35,000.

"Assuming an annual energy inflation rate of 15 percent and maintenance increases of 10 percent annually, the new sign will pay for itself in energy and maintenance savings in approximately five years," Schorr said.

County executive vs. commissioners

Charter language spreads confrontations

This year installed for the first time strictly as the legislative arm of Wayne County government, the County Commission nevertheless exerts a major effort on personnel appointments within the executive branch these days.

The Commission and the County Executive Office (CEO) both are testing their interpretation of appointive and approval powers granted or prohibited by the new charter.

Fed in part by imprecise language of the charter, a series of separate lawsuits have emerged from disagreements in at least three departments, and others may involve the Commission itself in direct court confrontation if implications from last week are carried out.

Presently the executive side faces court challenges over disputed appointments to the Road Commission and the Director of Personnel-Human Resources, and earlier lost a court decision in an attempt to appoint Loren Pittman Sheriff. The former Undersheriff while CEO William Lucas was still Sheriff, Pittman now figures in another CEO proposal to appoint him Director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Based on an opinion from the Office of Corporation Counsel, Lucas last week said in a letter to the Commissioners that their approval is unnecessary and that he has withdrawn Pittman from their consideration. He said Pittman instead would head the Emergency Office from a position on his executive, personal staff.

Refusing to believe that their approval is not required, and also aware that they must approve the budget for even the executive staff, the Commissioners postponed a decision of their own until June 23. According to Commissioner John C. Hertel who persuaded the delay, "the Commission is only doing its own job, to determine whether both executive and legislative powers are to be treated as both should."

Hertel said the issue would establish a precedent, and if the executive side is allowed to prevail, the pattern will be "used over and over again, against this Commission and others in the future."

"If the appointment is withdrawn and resubmitted for cooperative exercise of separate powers of government, then we should not reject it, but if the CEO intends a unilateral appointment, then we should reject it."

Hertel said he has no doubt that if the CEO fails to present another solution or if the Commission rejects the appointment under present circumstances, "certain Commissioners will vote to take this to court."

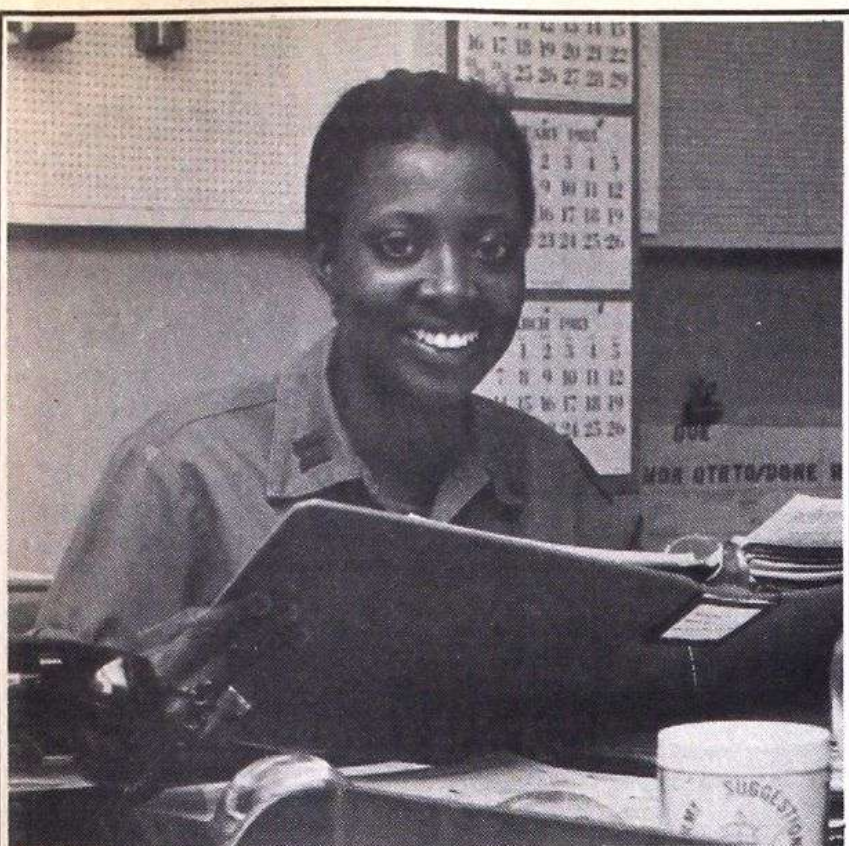

Even while expressing opposition to the appointment, both in a full Commission and a preceding Committee of the Whole, the Commissioners praised Pittman's qualifications and emphasized that their reluctance was due to the method of appointment and funding considerations, not dissatisfaction with Pittman himself.

Hoping to settle another dispute, the Commission last week also voted to seek a court decision to decide whether the Commission or the County Executive has authority to appoint members of the County

Drainage Board, Areawide Water Quality Board and Solid Waste Planning Committee. Acting on a proposal by Vice-Chairman Edward J. Plawewski, the Commission directed the County Prosecuting Attorney to initiate action for such a declaratory judgment.

Another action for declaratory judgment was avoided when Commissioner Richard E. Manning withdrew his proposal regarding the court dispute between the CEO and former Civil Service Director John Barr. Manning withdrew the proposal after the CEO submitted a letter withdrawing his proposed appointment of Carl H. Stouter to Director of Personnel-Human Resources Department.

Barr and members of the County Road Commission were the first to sue when the CEO announced their dismissal or replacement early in the year. Although the current Road Commission matter will ultimately be settled also by pending litigation, the CEO's proposed appointments there were rejected last week by the County Commission.

From Panama, with love

Army Capt. Joyce H. Gibert of Romulus checks regulations while serving as adjutant for the U.S. Army Communications Command, Fort Clayton, Panama. The Panama Canal, considered by many to be the "eighth wonder of the world," was built by the U.S. and opened for international commerce in August 1914; approximately 27,000 ships cross from ocean to ocean each year.

Capt. Joyce Gibert is Romulus's Panama connection

By SPEC. 5 JOHN H. SANDERS
(Special to ANP Newspapers)

FORT CLAYTON, Panama — Although the U.S. no longer owns the 50-mile waterway that links the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, it's the job of soldiers such as Army Capt. Joyce Henderson Gibert to defend one of the world's greatest engineering feats, the Panama Canal.

Gibert, 26, granddaughter of Mary A. Gear, 6446 S. Wayne Road, Romulus is an adjutant assigned with the U.S. Army Communications Command (USACC), Fort Clayton, Panama.

"It's my job to advise the commander and staff on all personnel actions, both military and civilian," Gibert said. "It's interesting and challenging work, I guess that's why I enjoy it so."

Members of the USACC-Panama provide a vital communications link between the Isthmus and the rest of the world and serve as the local telephone company for the military community.

They also have the task of maintaining electronic switching centers, microwave stations, a telecommunications center, an earth satellite terminal and providing contractual services to USACC in Central and South America. As a service oriented organization, USACC-Panama works with each of the military services and many other federal agencies on the Isthmus and in Latin America.

"I've been here 20 months and Panama, simply put, is just a beautiful tropical country," Gibert said. "The people are warm-hearted and friendly and it's been a great experience meeting so many people from different cultures."

Considered by many to be the "eighth wonder of the world," the Panama Canal was built by the U.S. and opened for international commerce in August 1914; approximately 27,000 ships cross from ocean to ocean each year.

Under the provisions of a new treaty between the Republic of Panama and the U.S., which went into effect in October 1979, Panama grants the U.S. the right to manage the canal. On December 31, 1999, all rights over the property will revert to the Republic of Panama.

Gibert, who holds a business education degree from Fort Valley State College, Fort Valley, Ga., is a 1974 graduate of D.M. Therrell High School, Atlanta. She was commissioned in March 1979.

"I came in because everyone in my family has served," she said. "My father was an NCO and served 20 years and my mother was in the WAC's in 1955. Even now, my sister is in the Army Nurse Corp. At the present time I intend to make a career of the Army myself."

'I'm here to serve community'

Cranes continue old tradition set by Baum Funeral Home

By JEFF JUTERBOCK
(ANP Special Writer)

When William Crane purchased the Baum Funeral Home recently it was something he'd been wanting to do for about seven years.

The home, now called the Baum-Crane Funeral Home, 36885 Goddard, was purchased on payments by Crane in a transaction that was completed April 27.

Crane was looking to buy a funeral home and decided that Romulus was a worthwhile and established city for such a purchase. He liked Romulus' growth potential — with the nearby airport — but says it's still a small town, and one can give personal service that isn't possible in a larger community.

"I'm here to serve the community, everybody in the community, regardless of money and race," he said.

Crane, who with his family, are sole owners of the firm, has no "particular" new policies in mind, and emphasizes that he will be getting involved with the Romulus community. A percentage of the revenue earned will be pumped back into the town — local merchants, clergy, and toward worthy causes.

But, he adds, "I don't plan on getting involved in politics. I wouldn't support any candidate in print."

Crane said there weren't any exceptional problems in the transition, but conceded that all such transactions involve problems. He began talking about the deal to the previous owner, Douglas Baum, last November.

He also said it's hard to tell how business is doing. And, "like any businessman, I'm hoping business will grow if I get involved with the community."

Paulette Crane, his wife, said that the name will stand as Baum-Crane until they are established in the community. Douglas Baum will possibly be around as well, but William Crane as new owner-manager will head the day-to-day operations.

Paulette Crane also said that community feedback on the change was that "everybody seems to be pleased."

William Crane started working in a Battle Creek funeral home in 1966, worked up to manager and stayed on until 1979. Then he worked as manager with option-to-buy at a Ypsilanti funeral home, but didn't want to buy into the Ypsilanti home. He got his state funeral director's license in 1970.

Crane got an associate degree from Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek in 1969. He spent a year in mortuary school in Dallas through September 1970.

Why did he first get into the funeral business?

"I liked working with people, helping them through their state of grief," he explained.

A tradition

Carrying on in the excellent tradition established by Baum Funeral Home, new owners William and Paulette A. Crane have taken over the landmark funeral home and say they will carry on in providing outstanding services to the city and area. Mr. Crane is a native of Battle Creek and was formerly employed by Royal Funeral Home in Battle Creek and most recently by Wagner-Stark & Moore Memorial Chapel in Ypsilanti. He is a Kellogg Community College and Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science graduate. Mrs. Crane is a native of Ypsilanti and was employed as an administrative secretary at Eastern Michigan University. They have three children: Jennifer, James and Billy.

Auto Club says that 4th of July will be busiest in five years

Michigan's summer tourism season — off to a slower than expected start — is heating up and the Automobile Club of Michigan expects tourism over the 78-hour Fourth of July holiday to be up 3 percent over last year and the busiest July 4th in five years.

"The cold, wet weather during the Memorial Day weekend limited holiday festivities, but recent warm, sunny conditions have helped increase tourism activities the last two weeks," stated Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

"Good weather and continued encouraging signs of economic recovery should help propel the state to its best July 4th since 1978," Drury said.

The Michigan Department of Transportation expects Michigan motorists to travel between 740 and 750 million miles, the highest estimate since the 102. hour 1978 holiday when they logged 770 million miles. Last year, motorists in Michigan traveled 725 million miles during the July 4 holiday.

The holiday officially runs from 6 p.m. Friday, July 1, to midnight Monday, July 4.

State inquiries for summer travel information in Michigan are 8 percent ahead of last year and 89 percent higher than 1981, the year before the "Say Yes to Michigan" campaign was launched.

Auto Club routing requests for Michigan Destinations are up 6.5 percent for the first five months while Michigan TourBook requests have increased nearly 12 percent. Requests from out-of-state AAA members are up 8.8 percent, reversing a trend from last year when many residents from adjacent states traveled to the World's Fair in Tennessee instead of vacationing in Michigan.

Although camping at State Parks was down 19 percent through mid-May, advance campsite reservations are up 24 percent. Advance holiday reservations at private campgrounds for July 4th are slightly lower than last year's pace, although interest is increasing.

Recreational vehicle sales in Michigan increased 67 percent during the first quarter of 1983, the strongest showing since 1978. Nationwide RV sales were up 43 percent during the same period.

"The July 4 weekend is traditionally the summer's most active holiday and this year appears to be no exception," Drury points out. "Many major events are planned, including Muskegon's Seaway Festival, Traverse City's National Cherry Festival and the Detroit Windsor International Freedom Festival."

"In addition, salmon and trout fishing along Michigan's Great Lakes shoreline should lure thousands of anglers over the holiday," he added.

The U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington D.C. predicts a 12 percent increase in vacation travel for the nation. The Center, which obtains its figures from a series of surveys of 1,400 adults, estimates a 14 percent increase for the Great Lakes region.

Last July 4 holiday 30 persons died on Michigan roads. A major factor in those fatalities was alcohol, which was known or suspected in 74 percent of the fatal mishaps. Only one of those killed in cars was wearing a safety belt and 88 percent of the drivers involved were less than 25 miles from home.

The Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will provide traffic and tourism bulletins to approximately 170 Michigan radio stations. The service will operate from 3 to 11 p.m. Friday (July 1), 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday (July 2) and Monday (July 4) and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday (July 3).

Preschool program is big hit

It has been a busy year for the children in Karen Linebaugh's special preschool class. Anjou, Danny, Joseph, Kevin, Rachel, Titus and Tynisha have been concentrating on learning many readiness skills in preparation for their promotions from preschool.

The students have studied colors, shapes, letters, and numbers, and learned songs and nursery rhymes.

A favorite time is Show-and-Tell. Anjou brought his Smurf hat; Danny shared his stuffed elephant; Joseph demonstrated a rubber crab; Kevin modeled blue Smurf sunglasses; Titus showed a Cookie Monster sweatshirt; Tynisha displayed a pretty blue purse; and the class counted Rachel's pennies.

The children especially enjoy Tuesday morning visits with the boys and girls at Head Start.

Van Buren seniors hold art exhibit

If "Ma Moses", the famous New England artist could do it, then why not the Van Buren Township senior citizens?

What the local seniors put on canvas may not captivate the world as some of the paintings by Moses, however, the art display recently shown in Van Buren Township Hall drew some oohs and aahs.

The classes responsible for the art exhibit are oil paintings, taught by Mary Francher and Arts and Crafts, taught by Cindy Murt. These classes are offered to all area senior citizens who are over 55 years of age.

In the oil painting class most students have not painted before and in the beginning they often work on one painting. As the students progress they choose their own subject and the instructor covers painting techniques and how to mix colors.

Each person works at his/her own speed.

In the arts and crafts class there is no level since all the students are talented and creative.

Various subjects areas are covered in class such as woodcrafts, candlewicking, soft sculpture, sewing projects, calligraphy and others. All students are encouraged to use their imagination and creativity is stressed with every project.

All classes run from September through June.

Barbara Clayton holds a needlepoint tissue box made in needlecraft class.

Douglas Brown, Director of Instruction for Van Buren Public Schools, examines needlework and crocheting done in class by Verdys Shepherd, Esther Burlingame and Mary Mumford.

A complete needlepoint village displayed by Juanita Akers.

Verdys Shepherd, Mary Mumford and Esther Burlingame work together in the Tuesday afternoon sewing class on projects for the Strawberry Festival.

Belleville students capture scholastic writing awards

By SANDY SPARROW
Belleville High Junior

The Detroit Free Press had a Scholastic Writing Awards Contest and two Belleville students, Lori Posegay, sophomore, and Amanda Robinson, junior, won awards. Only the top four percent who entered won.

Lori Posegay wrote a series of poems for the poetry category. The titles of some of her poems have to do with life, nature and friends. She won the Commendation Award for her entries.

Amanda Robinson wrote a sketch titled "The Spider" and entered it in the Sketch category. A sketch is the creation of a word picture or impression-

She also won a Commendation Award.

Both of the students are enrolled in Ms. Krupp's creative writing class first semester. They see more writing in the future and hope to win some more contests.

Views On Dental Health

By PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.

OVERCOMING DENTURE "GAGGING"

The most common problem with new dentures is gagging. The presence of this foreign body (the denture) causes an increased flow of saliva which may cause a person to gag. A lozenge sucked continuously for the first few days will increase the rate of swallowing and thus get rid of the extra saliva. Within a few days, the body will gradually adjust to the new dentures.

ten the denture. There is little the dentist can do. If he were to shorten the denture, the seal would be lost and the denture would no longer fit. Lozenges are useful, but it is up to the denture-wearer to adjust to the new environment. It might help to know that the full upper denture is almost always successful. But you must give your body a few days to get used to it.

Getting a Head Start

Pretty Andrea Morley is having fun — and learning — building a giant tinkler-toy during a visit to the Romulus' Head Start facility. The local Head Start program offers an environment where 3 and 4 year olds are able to learn by being actively involved, officials say. Head Start is presently accepting applications for its 1983-84 school year and applicants must be 3 or 4 years old by December 1 and reside in Romulus. The parents of the child must have a family income below the poverty line or are recipients of ADC benefits or the child has special needs. Contact the Board of Education for further information.

'Learning experience'

Romulus student works in Jamaica

By KAY HILBER
(Special to ANP)

Paul Kurtzhals, an Alma College freshman from Romulus, was one of 14 students who spent Alma's four-week 1983 spring term in Jamaica.

Instead of going as a tourist, he spent his time helping other by teaching in a primary school in the coastal town of Lucea as part of Alma's Jamaica IV service/learning program. The students left for Jamaica April 27 and returned May 18. The program, which Alma has offered since 1980, has taken place for the last two years in Lucea. While teaching in the primary school or working as aides in the town hospital, students learned not only about education and medicine, but also about the lifestyle and values of another culture. Becoming more aware of Third World conditions also helped them define their own values.

The 1983 project had four components: education, community recreation, medical/health and public service, all of which were carried out by students earning Spring Term and practicum credit. Students lived this year with Jamaican families, instead of living together in a separate compound as in the past.

Dr. K. Richard Pyle, director of Alma's Advising, Counseling, and Career Development Center, has coordinated the Jamaican program since its inception. "I think it provides our students with a greater perspective on themselves and on life," Pyle said of the program. "A liberal arts education should include a broadening awareness of the world, that awareness can take place in the classroom, but I believe that the right kinds of experiences outside the classroom also provide meaningful learning."

"It's important," Pyle went on, "for Alma — an institution whose mission is to develop liberally educated people — to develop in students some understanding of the world and our interdependence. A liberal arts education should help people become more caring and compassionate towards the less fortunate of the world."

He concluded, "I hope the students in the Jamaican program have come back a little more understanding, and will begin to think about their role in the functions of the Third World."

"We got along very well with our family," Paul said. "The lady cried when we left, and even her husband was a little choked up. It was one of the most touching moments of my life. They have fantastically good manners," he said, "and they're much friendlier than Americans."

"I threw away all of my prejudices towards people," said Paul. "You can't generalize because everyone is different."

He added, "My parents went to Jamaica and did similar work, and they very much wanted me to go."

Paul, a 1982 graduate of Woodhaven High School, is the son of William and Judith Kurtzhals, 27620 Prescott, Romulus.

our opinions

City, police should compromise

Much has been said and written in recent weeks regarding the elimination of three patrol officers positions in Wayne.

Although the city's $7.3 million budget already has been approved, such discussions continue as officers and their supporters are seeking signatures on petitions that request the reinstatement of the three posts at an annual cost of some $120,000. Money for the jobs would come directly from the city's anticipated $330,000 fund reserve, they propose.

Cutbacks in police services can be potentially devastating to a community. Health and safety facets affect lives, first and foremost, and they also affect, either directly or indirectly, a municipality's real estate values, business climate and overall image.

Obviously the loss of three patrol officers will have some affect in Wayne. The questions one must ask however are: What type of problem will the City Council's decision create? And can the City economically maintain the additional officers?

With 34 sworn officers on the force and a $2 million budget, Wayne's police department compares favorably with surrounding communities, both in terms of size and funding. The three police positions, vacant for months due to attrition, will not have a critical impact on the community's safety, in our opinion.

Yet, this attrition signifies a cut in police service, a dangerous precedent for any community. Unfortunately, a direct result of declining revenues and unemployment often is rising crime.

Fiscally the City of Wayne is faced with a common fact of life these days: a declining revenue base and growing expenses. The fact that the community even has a reserve fund is to be commended as a sign of sound financial practices. The city administration and City Council has managed to maintain services in a balanced budget, quite an achievement judging from the turmoil that exists in various other governmental agencies.

There is no simple solution to the police officer situation in Wayne. What we suggest is that the city administration and council, along with concerned citizens of the community, explore ways to reinstate at least one or two of the positions as a compromise solution. Elimination of three fulltime positions in a public safety area appears too severe at this time.

However, to fund the positions solely out of an anticipated reserve has no sense of permanency; what happens when the fund is depleted or used for an unanticipated expense, such as for storm damage?

The existing 1983-84 budget can be amended throughout the year so that a continuing dialogue on this subject is appropriate. Another comprehensive review of the budget is warranted to seek a means of placing as many officers on patrol as possible.

Student expresses concerns about schools

EDITOR—I reside in Belleville and am a freshman at North Junior High School.

I am writing this letter to inform the people of the lack of funding for our school system and how it affects our education.

In the last two years I have seen the school forced to cut back teaching time, drop their sports programs and cut back electives. These things may seem minimal, but they are affecting more than our learning. Our school is lacking school spirit, personality and perseverance.

Due to all of the things mentioned above the time spent in school is less enjoyable and harder to accept. Learning becomes more difficult as teachers don't have enough time compared to the number of students they are expected to teach. The band program at elementary levels has been completely cut off and our school has not had a true assembly in two years or more.

Next year I will be attending Belleville High School. On top of adjusting to this "momentum" change I must also wonder if the education they try to provide me will be enough.

I am constantly being told that I must be prepared to get a job in our ever changing technological society. In order to do this I most probably will require a college education. In comparing our school to others in the surrounding areas I find this to be anything but promising. Due to the cut back in hours and electives, it will be quite difficult (if not impossible) to acquire a scholarship or even college acceptance.

People now are worried about unemployment and the state of our economy. In approximately two to three years from now the real trouble is going to begin. The future of our nation is going to graduate from high school. They will not have the education required for college nor will they have the opportunity to get a "common man's job".

You have the opportunity to keep these people off welfare and put them in jobs that would contribute to society.

County commission shall provide WCGH's operation, charter says

Managing Editor Tom Mooradian's column last week, headlined "Mack and the WCGH," concerning the proposed Hospital Ordinance, Commissioner Milton Mack and myself, has some misleading statements that require an immediate response.

Let's begin at the beginning: The new Wayne County Charter, in Section 3.117 - Public County Hospital Facilities, says: "The Commission shall provide by ordinance for the operation, maintenance and administration of public county hospital facilities and shall assure an adequate level of physical and mental health services for the residents of the county."

The full Commission charged the Human Resources Committee, which I chair, with the responsibility of writing the ordinance. Before starting to write the ordinance, we held a Public Hearing in Inkster in February to receive input from the public regarding their concerns, needs and opinions relative to Wayne County General Hospital and health care.

Several meetings of the committee were spent on refining the language of the proposed ordinance, after which Public Hearings were held in Westland, Ecorse and in Detroit at the City-County Building to receive direct input from the public on the proposed Hospital Ordinance. It is interesting that no one spoke against the ordinance at any of the hearings, all of which were attended by a representative of the County Executive's Office.

On May 26, 1983, the Proposed Hospital Ordinance was received by the Committee of the Whole from the Human Resources Committee. Much discussion ensued, with Commissioner Mack expressing his belief that the County Executive should have control of the hospital (even though Section 3.117 quoted above was placed in the charter section dealing with the County Commission).

I agreed to pass the ordinance for the day (a parliamentary move which means that consideration will be delayed until the next meeting), and to have an informal discussion regarding the ordinance.

On June 1, 1983, the informal discussion was held, with members of the Human Resources Committee, representatives of the County Executive's Office and other interested persons.

Several modifications were suggested and agreed to at that meeting. Commissioner Mack also distributed to those present a copy of an ordinance that he had written concerning the hospital.

Commissioner Mack's proposed Hospital Ordinance has not been introduced to the commission and is not under consideration by the commission. Only the Proposed Hospital Ordinance prepared by the Human Resources Committee (the so-called Beard Ordinance) is under formal consideration by the Wayne County Commission.

On June 9, 1983, at the Committee of the Whole Meeting, I agreed to again pass the Human Resources Committee's Proposed Hospital Ordinance for the day, as requested by the County Executive to allow for input from his office (although, as detailed above, the process had been under way since February in public meetings and hearings, during which time he or his staff could have had input).

I agreed to this out of courtesy to the County Executive. Commissioner Mack did not attempt to introduce his proposed ordinance.

Judging by the reaction of other Commissioners who have spoken to me about Commissioner Mack's proposed ordinance, it seems doubtful that it will receive serious consideration — even if it is introduced — because it does not "provide for the operation, maintenance and administration of public county hospital facilities . . . ." It merely repeats the charter language in Section 3.117, rather than defining how these things should be accomplished, as does the ordinance under formal consideration.

Mack's ordinance does, in its second section, speak to providing additional locations for service, as does the ordinance under official consideration.

It is unfortunate that Commissioner Mack has apparently led people to believe that there are two versions of a hospital ordinance being considered when, in fact, there is only one that has been introduced, on which the required public hearings have been held, and which is currently under official consideration by the Wayne County Commission.

On Thursday, June 23, 1983, the Proposed Hospital Ordinance will again be considered by the Committee of the Whole, and if approved will be sent to the full Commission for formal adoption, probably on July 7, 1983.

I sincerely hope that there will be no further delays, because it is important to finally resolve the "operation, maintenance and administration . . ." of the hospital so that the public, the patients and the employees can, hopefully, be assured of the continuance of this very fine facility.

The ordinance, if adopted, will allow for a strengthened administration and the ability to substantially reduce the operating deficit.

County Commissioner

A nurse who cares

A few months ago, when I was in Annapolis Hospital following the birth of my first baby, I saw a piece in your paper called, "WOMEN WORTH WATCHING" as I recall (I don't live in the Wayne Eagle distribution area).

As soon as I read the title, a certain woman came to mind. Her name is Nora Cecil, she is a Registered Nurse in the Pediatric unit of Annapolis Hospital. My husband and I met Nora for the first time when we were students in her Lamaze class (she teaches Lamaze for Annapolis Hospital on Tuesday nights). As an instructor, she is unbeatable in my opinion. She was so enthusiastic, easy-going, bright, and so very friendly. She put so much effort into our class that I thought that was all she did. Needless to say, when I discovered she had a child almost 2 years old and was expecting another in January, plus, worked fulltime in Pediatrics, I was amazed!

After talking to her, I found out how supportive of Annapolis Hospital she is — always trying to improve it's service to the community.

Recently, I talked to Nora and found out she is starting a class for children (and their parents) who may be admitted to Annapolis. She seems so excited about it and I am again amazed at what this lady does to help others. Constantly looking for more she can do.

One of my friends who's child was in Annapolis, told me that Nora is as fantastic a nurse as she is a person — her job doesn't seem to end when she walks out the doors of the hospital. She continued to correspond with this little boy — wishing him well and sending little gifts every now and then. When he was admitted to another hospital, she would go visit him and was a strong support for my friend and her husband.

I know this is just one instance, but who knows what else she does that no one else ever knows about?

I truly believe this remarkable lady is "worth watching" because I believe nothing can hold her back — thank goodness for all of us!

If you still run that article, I'm sure Nora Cecil would fit the bill perfectly!

My husband, myself, and my baby son could never find the words to thank her for all she has done for us before and after I had my baby. Hopefully, this will allow us to express a small piece of gratitude and admiration we have for this special lady!

To recall or not to recall

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Don West is an angry hard-working Michigan resident.

And, like hundreds of thousands of residents in this state he believed in James Blanchard and voted for him in last November's general election.

Now he's actively working toward the governor's recall.

"I think the governor has betrayed those people who put him in office," West said. "We believed that he would find the solutions to this state's economic problems without raising taxes, and when he put his signature on that 38 percent increase, it was his kiss of death."

West, a Canton Township resident, was on his way to a "recall meeting" slated for Livonia's City Hall when he stopped by to ask for this newspaper's support. He felt that since we supported the man in Lansing, it would follow that we wouldn't print anything against him.

"We believe that the newspapers have a duty to print the truth," West says, "and the truth is that those who are fortunate to be working nowadays are paying a high price. Is it no wonder that many prefer not to work?"

"They're taking the money, what's left, out of our pockets so that most of us can't afford what we worked so hard to get."

West and people like him need somewhere in the area of 700,000 signatures in 90 days to place the question of a recall on the ballot.

Asked what would happen if the governor was recalled, West replied: "I really don't know. But I believe the Lieutenant Governor would take over until such time that a general election would be held."

"But," West reiterated, "we'll approach that problem when we get to that. What I'm asking of the newspaper is will you print the names who are spearheading the recall drive in this area. And will you put it in a prominent place so that everyone can read it?"

Here it is:

For those concerned, over-taxed people of Western Wayne County who are having difficulty in contacting people involved in the "Recall Blanchard Campaign", please refer to the following list of names and phone numbers:

West Wayne County - Mike Crockett, 425-2208; Dave West, 397-1836; Canton - Ed Marville, 455-6414; Redford - Sheila Nicholas, 534-8547; Belleville - Rich Tejan, 697-4675; Westland - Phyllis Runion, 728-8454; Garden City - Christie Golden, 425-2519; Wayne - Glen Kassel, 721-3488; Romulus - Forrest Chapman, 697-7089; Inkster - Scott Scarborough, 561-8831; Livonia - John/Carol Bolland, 422-2040; Plymouth - Ed Hibner, 453-0276; and Northville - Louis Vilardo, 420-0361.

These coordinators are responsible for the distribution of petitions, organizing the volunteer effort and to answer questions you might have regarding this recall.

Even though a return mailing address is indicated on each petition, we are encouraging those people who do have petitions with signatures, whether completely or partially filled, to hand them in to these coordinators to insure proper return handling.

Beginning Friday, June 17th, and each subsequent Friday, between the hours of 6-9 p.m. only, Vivians School of Dance located at 35112 Michigan Avenue (near Wayne Road), is allowing us to use their facility to give people an opportunity to come in and sign, pick-up or return petitions.

Abortion is after all murder

EDITOR — There is one and only one answer on abortion. It is, in the final analysis, MURDER. It is the deliberate killing of an innocent human being. And, if you are willing to accept the consequences, then God forbid.

'No swimming' in Wayne

EDITOR — I called the Wayne City Hall offices this morning and they told me that the swimming pool won't open this summer.

About three years ago they wanted a wave action, covered pool and it was voted down. It would have cost about two million dollars. They said it would cost fifty-thousand dollars to renovate the old one, but at a million dollars the old one could be renovated for fifty-thousand dollars a year for twenty years.

I'm sure if the renovation was a good job it would last a lot more than one year, right?

It is said on bumper stickers and elsewhere that "It's Great To Live In Wayne."

No pool, a dwindling police department, and what else?

Yet, I'm sure the city takes in as much money as they did five years ago and according to my taxes it is considerably more.

Where does the money go? At this rate, why is it so great to live in Wayne?

Parents think teachers great

EDITOR — Our daughter attends Savage Road Elementary School in Belleville. She's in fifth grade and for five years we've been involved with the school and staff on various projects and programs.

We all hear about how high teachers' salaries are and they always want more.

Do the people who make these statements realize how involved most teachers are with our children?

Do you know how much a baby-sitter, tutor and counselor would cost us for six to eight hours a day?

Maybe we've just ran into extra special teachers for five years.

I don't know.

But, whatever the reason, my husband and I would like to say we appreciate your time, effort and care. You go beyond your "job." Thank you Savage School staff and teachers.

Bank officials was off base

EDITOR — Recently, shortly before the banks closed, my neighbor, an aged widow of very limited means, found it necessary to cash her social security check.

I drove her to the nearest bank where she was told by a teller that because she had no account there, they would not cash her check. (It is a pitifully small check).

I then explained to the branch manager that the lady was in poor health — that an emergency existed — and that she needed cash badly and immediately.

I met with a stone wall. I was informed that it was "against the rules" regardless of circumstances.

Such damnable indifference makes me sizzle.

I find it hard to believe that an institution whose alleged function is to serve the public can logically foster such a hard headed unbending rule, and that a person given the title of "manager" cannot make such a simple decision.

The whole scene is utterly senseless.

To spare individuals involved, I have refrained from mentioning names, but if the genius who formulates the rigid rules is interested, I shall be pleased to elaborate.

I'm in the phone book.

Disappointed Family Day fan

EDITOR — I was furious when I read in a recent newspaper article that there will be no Fourth of July Family Day in Van Buren Township because the township board members do not have time to plan and carry out the event. Hogwash!

If the Board Members worked full days and took fewer vacations they would have plenty of time.

Now that there will not be a Family Day this summer, residents will be required to pay for their park passes. These passes were always free in the past-money from the picnic went toward park improvements. So because the Board members don't have time we get hit in the pocket book again.

Another issue that burns me is the condition of our gravel roads. No dust control this year. The dust gets so bad you can hardly see where you are going when you drive down the road and heaven help you if you are unlucky enough to live on one of these roads.

Why no dust control? We've always had it in the past. Couldn't be lack of money they just bought new police cars.

Wick's trip was educational

EDITOR — When Wick School's Outdoor Education Camp in Romulus was cancelled, we sought help to plan alternate trips.

The response was wonderful. The sixth grade students visited the state capitol, Cedar Point and Willow/Oakwood Metro parks on three separate days. All the trips were immensely successful.

We would like to thank the many people who helped make these trips happen:

The Romulus residents who helped make our petition drive successful.

The district's bus drivers for their help and support.

The Board of Education — especially Dr. William Bedell, Dr. LeCesne and Mr. Bales.

Richard Goode, Carol Bales and Bill Oliver of Wick School.

The many sixth-grade parents who volunteered their time and talents, particularly Rose Filer and Linda Lester who prepared fried chicken for 102 people.

All of these people helped ensure that this small group of students did not suffer because of labor troubles over which they had no control.

Thanks to our terrific kids! Your cooperation and good behavior made the trips quite enjoyable.

Student has some concerns

EDITOR — I am a student at North Junior High, who would like to inform you of a very serious dilemma concerning the Van Buren School District. The problem is a lack of funds needed to support such programs as French courses, Spanish, sports, and many school activities.

We, the students, feel we are being denied the opportunity to further our education in these and other areas.

We also feel this lessens our chances to be successful in the future. The elimination of some of these activities also results in less school involvement and spirit among the students.

This, in turn, often results in lower grades by students because of lack of effort.

Recent statistics have shown that the United States educational system has fallen far behind other nations in its efforts to educate the public.

I feel if we are to further our technology and compete with other nations in industry in the future, we must act swiftly in renewing our educational system.

Some cherished memories

The other day I heard my beauty operator telling one of her clients that she felt her boy had missed an awful lot by having been raised on a 45 foot lot in the city. He is a fine young man, married and about to become a father.

As I sat there, I wondered whether, when he became fortyish, he would carry with him nostalgic memories of childhood or whether this was the privilege of those of us who were raised in wide open spaces. And then I watched her with her competent hands and heard her tell a few stories of her boy's childhood, and my cherished memories came throbbing about me.

I remember --- oh, how vividly I remember!

I remember the little town of Caldwell, Idaho in which I was born and raised, and how it was when we would hike to the top of the hill and look out over the valley. The atmosphere was wonderfully clear and one could see for miles and miles and miles.

And I remember how it was at night when the stars hung so low that one could almost reach out and pick them. But mostly I remember going out to the farm to see Grandma and Grandpa. Down the dusty road we would drive — my mother and father with my baby sister between them, in the front of the touring car, and my little tomboy sister and myself in the back.

Down the long lane and over a narrow bridge, then up a steep hill, and we were there. Grandpa would come out to greet us; and as he lifted each one of us from the car, he would hug us to him and kiss us. How marvelously his moustaches tickled and how earthy he always smelled! And then Grandma would reach out for us and draw us to her ample self, and give us a good loving.

After our wonderfully good welcome, we walked the length of the long, long porch into the clean cool house where huge glasses of ice-cold lemonade awaited us. I remember how Grandpa loved honey on his hot biscuits and how he turned them upside down to eat them. I remember how, when I tried to imitate him, the honey would dribble all over my front and I would be mortified; and then Grandma would clean my dress and call me Honey Girl.

The long summer days at Grandma's were spent swinging in the tire swing and following behind Grandpa as he worked about the farm. I remember how his back locked as I trudged along behind him, and particularly how his pants were pulled high under his shoulder blades by the tight suspenders. If we were very, very careful we could walk through Grandma's garden, but only if Grandma were with us.

The poppies gave me away one time when I sneaked alone into the garden to smell the flowers, and I came into the house with a smudged tip of the nose. The highlight of each week was the day my Aunt Essie's boy friend came to call, and we little girls would sit on either side of her at the vanity table and watch her heat up the marcolling iron and hear the little sizzle as she tested them with a moistened tip of the finger.

We watched with fascination as the hot irons lay on her long straight brown hair, turning it into ripply waves. We would watch her moisten the tip of her finger again and run it over the red backing of a book and gently outline her lips. Next would come the huge powder puff, and she would emerge the most beautiful person in the world next to Mother.

Grandma and Grandpa have long since gone, and Mother and Father have joined them, but the memories live on. And through the memories I walk once again with those loved ones, and I miss them a wee bit less. My little beauty operator needn't worry; her boy didn't really suffer. His memories may not be the same type of memories as my memories, but they will be memories of HIS childhood and HIS loved ones; and memories have a way of making one's adult self one with his child self, and through memories one never really loses that self or his loved ones.

handed this one chance to vote "no" is too much to ask of a person.

If they knew they would be shot at dawn for pulling the "no" lever, they would pull it anyway. The "no" lever is an irresistible draw.

So we students, having been the victims of the "No" lever so many times and knowing this to be only too true, would take any necessary action to keep those people from being given the opportunity to pull the "no" lever just to be saying "no".

And once we had accomplished all of that — getting an education is the responsibility of American rights and privileges along the way — we could get on with the business of living — and breathing free.

Romulus kids should sue

I wonder: Can kids sue their elders for endangering their health and safety?

I mean, wouldn't you be so inclined if you were a Romulus High School student who had just found out that the adults in that community—the ones, and only ones, who have the right to vote on such things—had turned down a 6 mill increase to pay for cleaning up deadly asbestos fibers from your school environment?

Wouldn't you begin to wonder, after the second time the money for the asbestos clean-up had been turned down, who's on your side, anyway?

And wouldn't you also begin to wonder about whether it isn't time to change a system that would allow a mere 1220 voters from a city full of people to make such a vital decision?

If I were a student at Romulus High School, I would take every thing I had ever learned in civics classes (If there are such classes—maybe the good citizens have done away with those, too), and I would make a case against the voters of that city for having violated some decidedly inalienable rights: namely, the rights to health, safety and the pursuit of a quality education.

I would name as co-conspirators (for conspiring to do away with my education, if not my life) the 1220 so-called adults who voted against the asbestos removal, the 1361 voters who voted against the bond issue for roof replacement and related improvements, and the 1464 voters who voted against a 3-mill tax increase for operating purposes.

I would enlist the aid of my government teachers (those who haven't been pink-slipped, that is) and beg them to help us put the teachings of their courses into action. And, once the help was forthcoming, we, the students of Romulus High School, (and the teachers, who are also affected) would sue the pants off of those no-voters (and even possibly the non-voters) who, by their actions (or non-actions), were forcing us to spend six hours a day, 180 days a year, in an environment proven beyond a doubt to be unsafe and injurious to our health.

And once the case had been won (which, of course, it would be), we could breathe easier and possibly go one step further. We could put our Government-into-action once again and take steps to change the rules. We would take the asbestos and new roof and operating issues out of the hands of the voters, who have proven time and time again that they're not capable of intelligent action in the voting booth.

We would use, as our line of defense, the fact that something happens to those normally rational adults once they get their hands on the trigger in the voting booth. Suddenly, it hits them that this is the once again they'll ever have to vote "no" on how their money is being spent. To vote "yes" when they've been Tom Madgwick isn't interested in owning a fast food operation.

For that reason visitors to The Nugget at 31823 Plymouth Road (between Merriman and Farmington) in Livonia will encounter a family dining experience, complete with all-you-can-eat specials, children's and weight watcher's menus and an impeccably clean atmosphere.

Not exactly the qualities commonplace in 24-hour a day establishments? Many pre-conceived notions are quickly dispelled as one walks in the door.

An overhead board lists today's $3.99 specials — stuffed cabbage, fried chicken, chopped sirloin with mushroom gravy, shrimp in a basket and breaded veal. Homemade pies are offered in every variety imaginable — strawberry, coconut, lemon, banana, pecan...

It's taken Madgwick, who resides in Westland, and his partner, Gene Bascom, a year to convert their Nugget into a truly family restaurant. The transition is proving successful.

"We're no longer thought of as a hamburger stand with breakfast specials," Madgwick noted. "Family dining is what we feature, a nice place where you can get a good meal for $4 or $5. All my foods are fresh and take hours of preparation."

"I'm not interested in fast foods," added Madgwick, who's been in the restaurant business since 1967. "We're not exactly where we want to be yet, but this is a beginning, a step up the ladder."

All-you-can-eat specials, served daily from 11 a.m. till 11 p.m., start at $3.75 and include choice of soup, salad or cole slaw, roll and butter, and in some cases potato and vegetable. Entrees are fried baby shrimp or liver and onions on Mondays; chicken fingers or frog legs, Tuesdays; spaghetti or veal parmigiana, Wednesdays; swiss steak or liver and onions, Thursdays; fish and chips or frog legs, Fridays; chicken fingers or shrimp, Saturdays, and chicken or veal parmigiana, Sundays.

At lunchtime The Nugget's menu offers a variety of sandwiches, which come with soup, salad or cole slaw in the $3 to $3.50 price range.

A number of economical selections await diners from 5 a.m. to 11 a.m., priced at $1.45 and up. One of the popular breakfast choices is the $1.99 special of two eggs, choice of meat, potatoes, toast and jelly.

The creative person can opt to build their own three-egg omelette by ordering any combination of the 12 fillings available.

Carryout service at the 24-hour restaurant is offered by calling 427-6820. The remodelled establishment has some 55 seats in booths, tables and counter places.

Children's play to open

"Steal Away Home," the Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival's production for children's audiences, will open July 12 at 10:30 a.m., in the Hilberry Theatre at Cass and Hancock in Detroit. Performances continue through July 28, each Monday at 1 p.m. and each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 10:30 a.m.

"Steal Away Home" tells the story of two runaway slave boys who are helped on their way North by the good people, black and white, of the "underground railroad." Their many adventures, dangers, hidings, disguises, narrow escapes and comic exploits are bridged by choral spirituals.

The play was written by Aurand Harris, author of last summer's Hilberry production for children, "Cinderella—A Toby Show." Harris was winner of the first Creative Writing Fellowship for children's theatre awarded by the National Endowment for the Arts.

The production is

Funding for arts favored

Americans believe that the arts should be financially healthy and are willing to have their tax dollars utilized for the arts, according to the results of a recent public opinion survey sponsored by Merit cigarettes.

The Merit Report found that 83 percent of the public feels it is important (46 percent "very," and 37 percent "somewhat") that the arts be financially healthy. Arts were defined as "museums, opera, ballet, theater, classical music and the like."

Women in every age group are more likely than men to support the financial health of the arts, The Merit Report concluded.

Of the 46 percent who termed the arts "very important," 55 percent came from the Northeast states, compared to 36 percent from the North Central states; 45 percent from the South, and 48 percent from the West.

Sixty-one percent of those surveyed favored the usage of their tax dollars to support the arts while 32 percent are opposed. Seven percent expressed no opinion.

The Merit Report found that 70 percent of those between the ages of 18 and 34 favored the tax support compared to 53 percent of those 50 and older and 59 percent of those 35 to 49.

The Merit Report, conducted under the supervision of Audits and Surveys, Inc., involved random telephone questioning of some 1,205 adults.

What a drag!

Several students from Wayne Memorial High and members of its Drag Club turned out at Milan Dragway recently for the annual Jaycee-sponsored High School Drag Meet. The meet the group found, was anything but as they walked away with top honors. Junior Ken Depoole, driving the club's '69 Torino, sponsored by Bill Wild's Auto Salvage, ran a 14.50 to defeat Wayne senior Dwayne Graham in his Cutlass. Doupe won $100 gift certificate from Snap on Tools for his first place finish, scholarship to an auto trade school of his choice, a three-foot trophy and a plaque for low E.T. Graham received a trophy for being runner-up. He also was the winner of the fall high school drag meet, when he won a $200 gift certificate, scholarship grant to an auto trade school of his choice. Junior Doug McCurray was runner-up in that meet. Posing with a 1969 Olds Cutlass the Drag Club rebuilt from the ground up are Jerry Depoole, Dwayne Graham, Doug McCurry, club sponsor Herb Wilson, Kevin Stacy and Ken Doupe. The car was painted by Depoole who with Stacy, Graham and Phil Koshe entered the car on the World Custom Car Show in March, garnering a third-place trophy for their efforts and its display.

Belleville girls bring home coveted softball crown

Don't touch Coach Peggy Curtis. Or any of the Belleville High girls' softball team.

Because, if you do, they may suddenly awake and discover that they are dreaming.

But, of course, it isn't a dream. It's true. Belleville today reigns as the best Class A high school softball team in the State of Michigan.

Coach Curtis, in her six years as head coach, accomplished what some coaches never accomplish in a lifetime: win a coveted state crown. The Tigers did it at Midland over the weekend, beating Clarkston on Friday in the semi-final round 6-2.

Then, on Saturday, posted their biggest victory of the year, shutting out Fraser 4-0 behind incredulous Judy Wisniewski's 2-hitter.

Wisniewski — and you have to use all the superlatives for this young athlete — has won 26 of her 28 starts this season, losing one and winding up in a tie in the other decision.

"She has just been fantastic for us," Coach Curtis said. "What can you say about her and the rest of this team? They are the greatest."

Belleville's 31st and 32nd wins are the most victories posted by a Belleville High team in one season. In fact, Tiger historians can't recall when the high school has ever won a team state championship. This could be their first.

In the finals, Wisniewski was near perfect again as she fanned four and walked one in twirling a two-hitter. She surrendered a single in the first inning to Genne Prevost and also a base hit in the last of the seventh, the only hits Fraser managed during the decisive contest.

Belleville erupted for three runs in the top of the third off of loser Lee Argai who was the victim of some shabby defense which committed three errors. In that crucial frame Tina Cicotte was safe on an error and reached second on Kim Thick's sacrifice bunt. Debbie Stull then came through with a single and both runners advanced on Michelle Lamance's sacrifice.

A single by Debbie Sumner produced the first run of the game and a two runs base hit by Sandy Mattson gave the home team a 3-0 lead.

In the sixth, Belleville added an insurance run as Mattson walked, moved to second on Wisniewski's bunt and advanced to third on a passed ball. She scored with Jane Kause's sacrifice flyball.

Belleville and Wisniewski managed to play over five miscues in the semi-final round and the Tiger hurler managed to squelch a Clarkston last-of-the-seventh uprising after two errors produced one run.

Wisniewski again notched four strikeouts and walked one in a four-hit pitching performance. Annette Vlosich was charged with the loss as she tossed a six-hitter, but walked seven.

Belleville broke a two-inning scoreless deadlock in the top of the third as Sumner singled home Thick who got aboard on an error and moved to second with Stull's single.

In the fourth, the Tigers turned it into a 2-0 ball game as Jill Pence walked, stole second, and advanced to third on Cicotte's groundout. She scored on Thick's base hit.

However, Clarkston closed the gap with a run in the bottom of the fourth, making it 2-1. But Belleville retaliated with a pair of runs in both the fifth and sixth innings.

In the fifth, Stull walked, LaMance put down a bunt single and both runners moved up with Sumner's sacrifice. A grounder to third scored Stull while Wisniewski's slow roller to the mound, bobbled by the Clarkston pitcher, produced the second run.

Belleville put away Clarkston in the sixth as Vlosich had problems finding the plate. She issued walks to Pence and Cicotte, then Thick's bouncer to first was also bobbled, scoring one run and Stull's two-bagger chased home the final Tiger run of the game.

When the Tiger club returned from Midland on Saturday they were greeted by hundreds of fans.

"You know the city was celebrating the Strawberry Festival," Coach Curtis noted, "and the news of our victory spread like a forest fire in the crowd."

"Am I proud of this team," she quickly added.

Malarkey's wins another tourney

The Malarkey's Pub coed softball team of Westland added to its lengthy list of accomplishments last weekend by taking top honors in the Grand Ledge Invitational Tournament.

Malarkey's Pub, the reigning United States Slow-Pitch Softball Association Mixed National co-champion and Metro-Detroit Amateur Softball Association titleholder, breezed through the Grand Ledge tournament, winning five straight contests.

In the opening game, Jim Putman crashed a pair of homeruns and John Kerr drilled four hits, as Malarkey's pounded Play Time Lounge of Lansing, 12-7.

After shutting out Tony M's of Lansing, 16-0, Malarkey's bombed Bourdo Logging of Delta, 19-2. Jim Putnam, Kerr, Bill Elliott and Lynn Putnam paced the offensive effort with three hits apiece.

In the final game of the winners' bracket, Kerr, Elliott, Jon Hiltz and Jim Putnam each hammered three hits to lead Malarkey's to a 17-7 triumph over the Dirty Dozen from Lansing.

Malarkey's then closed out the tournament by drubbing the Dirty Dozen again, 8-3. Jim Putnam headed Malarkey's attack with three hits, while Marsha Kerr, Lynn Putnam, John Kerr and Phil LaPorte each contributed two safeties.

Canton seeks hotshots

The popular Pepsi Cola/NBA "Hotshots" program is back, and Canton Parks and Recreation Department will host the competitions for 3 days beginning July 12, July 13, and July 20.

Basketball players should show up at any of three sites — Eriksson Elementary School (July 12); Fied Elementary School (July 13) or Central Middle School (July 20) to take part in the competitions.

Boys and girls, ages 9-12, 13-15 and 16 to 18 are eligible. The competition entails shooting as many baskets as you can from predetermined "hot shots" around the baskets during a span of one minute.

Canton to host 'D' softball tourney

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is seeking teams for a men's Class D softball tournament to be held on July 8, 9 and 10.

The double elimination tournament will qualify two teams for the Metro-Detroit Amateur Softball Association finals scheduled at the Suburban Softball Complex in Rochester, Aug. 19-21.

Games will begin on Friday, 6:15 p.m. and the playing schedule will be determined by draw at the managerial meeting. All teams must be ASA (American Softball Association) registered.

To enter the local competition, there is an $80 registration fee. Teams also must pay a $12 umpire fee per game at each game site. The deadline to enter the tournament is 4:30 p.m., June 29. There is a 7 p.m., pre-tournament meeting scheduled at the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Rd.

There is a 20 player limit, and no "pick-ups" will be allowed. A Michigan driver's license or Michigan I.D. will be required for identification and without the I.D. a player will not be allowed to play.

For further information, contact the Canton Recreation Department at 397-1000.

Super fan meets super Tiger pitcher

When Belleville's Kurt Atchison (standing, at right) held a special "Country Boys' Grand Opening" to publicize the wide range of Ford cars on sale, the hottest Detroit Tiger pitcher of them all, Milt Wilcox, showed up to sign autographs. Above, Atchison's son, Craig, who is 12 and one of the Tigers' most zealous fans, gets to meet the Tiger hurler who signed a baseball, one of many during the Ford dealer's promotion. Wilcox and the Tigers are in the battle for first place in the American League and only two games behind the pace-setting Baltimore Orioles.

It's Waltz Time

A 1893 Livonia-born athlete becomes a natural hero to kids

BY ALAN WALTZ
(ANP Special Writer)

This week's sports "celebrity" baseball coach was born on a farm at the corner of Plymouth and Inkster roads in Livonia in 1893; January 21st 1893 to be specific.

He grew up in Livonia and attended Elm School until the eighth grade.

At that time, with his father putting a little pressure to help with the farm he decided to quit school and forsake the working of a hoe for the swinging of a baseball bat.

After that no one heard too much from him but he somehow managed to drift around the country and caught on with minor league baseball teams such as a team in the old Three-I League (teams which came from Iowa, Indiana and Illinois).

He also played with Beaumont, Texas in the old Texas League and with Denver, Colorado. I guess you could say his main claim to fame was when he was a member of the 1924 Washington Senator team which won the pennant and World Series with Walter Johnson (a member of the baseball Hall of Fame at Copperstown) pitching them to the title that year.

He didn't get to play much because of a shoulder injury but was on the roster that year and I believe that was the last year Washington won the pennant in the American League.

Eventually after his retirement he came back to Livonia to begin coaching the little boys and started out by taking a Cub Scout team. As he gained experience he gradually moved up to coach the older boys and moved his coaching ability to Wayne.

Most people around Wayne remember him coaching down at the old flats in 1946 and he started Denny Piscopink on his catching career with the old Brooklyn Dodgers.

He also coached Ray Cabanaw a second baseman who signed with the Tigers. Also, at that time there was a young pitcher in Wayne named Chuck Templeton. He was a big strapping left-handed pitcher but didn't have the blazing fastball everyone thought you needed to make the big time.

Our hero took him aside and told him to learn pinpoint control and he wouldn't need that big fast ball. Well he (Templeton) made it all the way to the Brooklyn Dodgers and though only pitching briefly in the big leagues, it was his coach who got him started on the right track to the big time. As time passed this coach took his teams to such faraway places as Listowel, Ontario for exhibition games paying their way and giving them meal money. One night they played there and the fog was so thick coming back you could hardly see the road but he brought them safely into Wayne about 4 a.m. In the off season, he got them together as a basketball team and took them to Kronk recreation center every week to scrimmage the best basketball players in the Detroit area, always buying them a meal after the game.

In about 1956, a young boy from Flat Rock, Mich. caught his eye and he signed him to pitch in the old Inter-Country league with his Wayne team. This boy threw nothing but "smoke"; no curve and no slider but he was next to unbeatable that year and signed a contract with the Detroit Tigers and went on to pitch many years in the big leagues for the Tigers gaining much fame as a short reliever and after his retirement was the pitching coach for the Tigers. His name was Fred Gladding and I'm sure everyone remembers that he was the stopper in the bullpen for the Detroit team for many years.

As the years passed the younger boys seemed to lose respect for this man forgetting that he was getting on in years and that they would ever know.

However, he still kept his teams on into the sixties. I'm writing this story because I'm not sure his former players knew that he was a very good third baseman who was hampered by injuries most of his minor league career and I think he deserves recognition for the contributions he made around Wayne for those many years.

As we remember him, we always thought he was giving us a little too much "bull" about baseball but you see, he knew sometimes that was what was needed to keep the boys going, you know; he used to say "let them think they know more than me, they'll find out fast that they don't know everything and every time they do, it will probably cost them a game but he didn't care because he was out there in the third base coaching box having the time of his life... just like in the minors.

Oh yes, I almost forgot... some one told me he used to barnstorm around Michigan with a group of major leaguers, playing benefit games to help various charities in keeping with his love of the game and his willingness to help others. The old time umpires around this area tell me that if they "blew" a close call this man would stand down at third base and say "you owe me one for that lousy call but he never embarrassed a umpire and they all respected him for that.

After he finally retired he moved to St. Johns, Michigan and on March 17, 1978 he passed away in the Carson City Hospital, in Carson City, Michigan.

So we salute you Mr. HOWARD GLASS and we just want you to know that we all love and treasure those precious years.

It's strawberry time in Michigan

Chic, red-ripe, irresistible — the strawberry is a classic: never out of style; never out of family favor. And when it comes to good taste, appearance and value, strawberries are hard to beat.

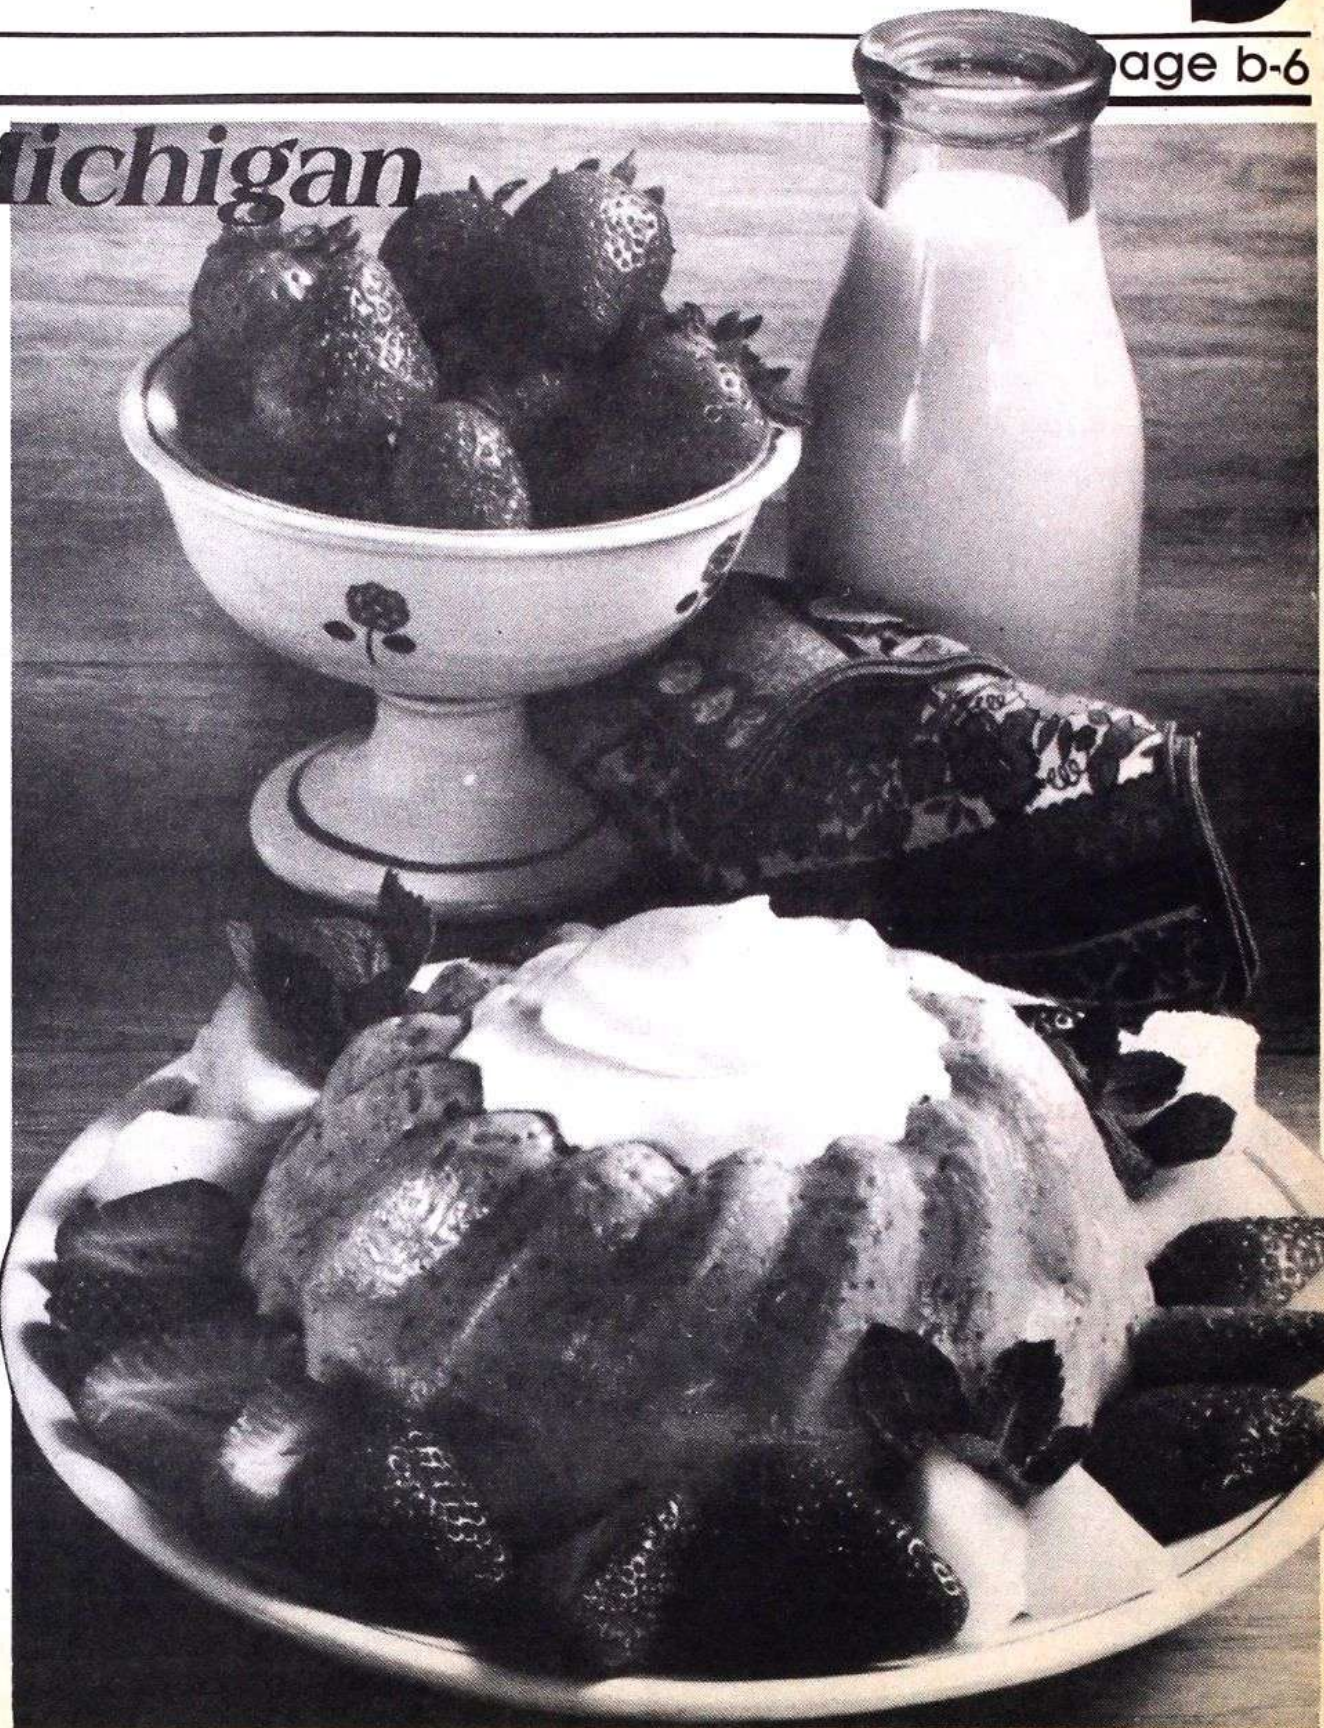

Tempting with their good looks, and luscious to taste, strawberries are also a nutritious treat. In fact, one whole cup of strawberries has only 60 calories yet provides 150% of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance of vitamin C and about 8% of the iron. A healthy bargain for dieters and gourmets alike!

For a doubly good treat, combine strawberries with other fresh summer fruits like peaches, pineapple and blueberries. From appetizers to desserts, the delicious combinations are virtually endless. Experiment! You'll be pleasantly surprised at how easily strawberries add zest to any meal.

If you are looking for a new dessert idea, why not give a new twist to an old favorite? Your family will be delighted with the creamy goodness of Strawberries and Cream Rice Pudding. A beautiful blushing-pink color, this dessert combines fresh strawberries and pineapple with cooked rice. The resulting flavor is like a taste of strawberry ice cream. Luscious yet so easy to prepare! Garnished with sliced fresh fruit and whipped cream, this tempting molded dessert is sure to please children and adults alike!

Strawberries and Cream Rice Pudding

½ cup water
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 pint baskets fresh strawberries, stemmed
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups cooked rice, cooled
1½ cups fresh pineapple chunks or sliced peaches
 In small bowl combine water, sugar, lemon juice and gelatin. Set in small skillet of simmering water. Stir to dissolve sugar and gelatin completely. Remove from heat; set aside. In container of electric blender, puree 1½ pints of the berries. (You should have about 2½ cups puree.) In large bowl, whip cream and vanilla to form soft peaks. Fold puree and gelatin mixture into cream to blend thoroughly. Mix in rice. Pour into 6 cup mold. (Do not use a mold with a tin lining.) Tap on counter to remove air bubbles. Cover and chill until firm, at least 3 hours. To serve, unmold onto serving plate. Surround with remaining strawberries, halved, and pineapple. Serve with additional sweetened whipped cream and garnish with mint springs, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Newcomers on the scene

Jill Susan Pinter

A touch of pink has been added to an almost predominately "blue-toned" spot out at 6990 Rawsonville Rd., Belleville — the place Bob and Dine Pinter call home.

Diane, who's been overseeing the needs of her three "men" — sons Bobby, 6½, and Michael, 4½, as well as their dad — now has a little girl to fuss over.

The new addition, titled "Jill Susan", made her debut at 1:13 p.m. June 10 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The 8 lb. - 6 oz. infant, who measured 21 inches, is the new granddaughter of Bill and Sue Harcas of Ludington and Harry and Ethel Pinter of Belleville. Great grandparent honors go to Mynhart Harcas and Martha Paschke, both of Ludington, and Rosa Papp of Belleville.

Jill's mom is the former Diane Harcas.

Hans David Ihlenfeldt

"It's a boy (at last)" was probably the way Paul and Jody Ihlenfeldt of 41233 Savage Rd., Belleville, announced the arrival of the first male member of their family.

The new heir, who bowed in at 1:39 p.m. May 7 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, is the couple's first son. Labeled "Hans David", he is being pampered by three sisters: Yvette Danyelle, 5½; Aundrea Michelle, 3½; and Gretchen Elizabeth, two.

They are the grandchildren of Marcelle Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Don Ihlenfeldt, all of Belleville, and Lawrence Ard of Livonia.

Their mother is the former Jody Ard.

David Lee Jacobs Jr.

The birth of their first child, a boy, is announced by David and Sandra Jacobs of 20749 Martinsville Rd., Lot 115, Belleville.

The newcomer, who made them into an instant family, is David Lee Jacobs Jr., who put in his appearance at 11:39 a.m. June 9 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Weighing in at 8 lbs. - 4½ ozs. and measuring 22½ inches, the baby is the new grandson of John and Marie Jacobs of Belleville and Harold and Mabel Blackburn of Fenton.

Receiving congratulations in the great-grandparent division are Mr. and Mrs. Miles Coleman of Kimper, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Blackburn of Red Jacket, W. Va.; Mrs. Ethel Thacker of Canada, Ky. and Mrs. Murtle Jacobs of Fairborn, O.

Merit scholarships are awarded entirely on scholastic ability, without regard to financial need. Students wishing to apply for the scholarships should contact the WSU Admissions Office or their high school counselor.

Two Huron High School students, Timothy William Johnson of 29511 King Rd., Romulus, and Paul James Masson of 31831 Pennsylvania Rd., Romulus, were among those selected.

BHS alumna receives award

A 1979 graduate of Belleville High School, Jill Southward, recently received the Rietveld Fine Arts Award at Cedarville College in Cedarville, O.

A senior English-speech-secondary education major, Miss Southward received the prize which goes to a junior or senior demonstrating consistent and outstanding ability and development in one or more areas of the fine arts. The daughter of Jim and Rosalie Southward of 4333 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville, she was awarded her Bachelor of Arts degree in education June 4. Her parents, sisters Connie and Kris, and grandmother, Mrs. Violet Bird of Belleville, attended.

Prior to graduating and as a requirement for her degree in speech, Miss Southward performed in an hour-long, one-woman show in which she portrayed 11 different characters. The historical drama centered on the final three days in the life of Mary Stuart, Queen of Scots, before Queen Elizabeth had her beheaded. The tragedy was written by Friedrich von Schiller.

Shown in her royal regalia, Miss Southward also portrayed Hannah Kennedy, Mary's nurse; Sir Amias Paulet, keeper of Mary; Lord Burleigh, Lord High Treasurer to Elizabeth; Elizabeth I, Queen of England; Lord Shrewsbury and Lord Leicester, "Dudley", Councillors to Elizabeth; Sir Davison, Secretary of State to Elizabeth; Earl of Kent, Councillor to Elizabeth; Sir Andrew Melvil, Mary's House-steward, Priest, and Margaret Curl, Mary's attendant.

While a student at Cedarville, Miss Southward was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1982-83; was a member of the Village Players and PiDelta, a tour group, and also served on the homecoming court in the fall of 1982.

She has accepted an offer from Panama City Christian High School in Panama City, Fla., to teach English, speech and drama in the fall.

Michigan State to host 1000 for 49th annual meeting

Ex-Romulus High band member becomes college band director

September, 1982 marked a big year in the history of the instrumental music program of the Romulus Schools.

Last September, Dr. Glenn Hayes was appointed assistant professor and Director of the Marching Band at Bowling Green State University in Ohio. Dr. Hayes was a member of the Romulus Schools' instrumental music program for nine years.

In the 4th grade, Dr. Hayes began the study of the clarinet in the Gordonier Elementary School. At Romulus Jr. High School, Dr. Hayes took up the Oboe and played under Richard Kruse in the Jr. High School Bank. Dr. Hayes continued to play in the Romulus Senior High School Bank under Gideon Pettway. He also studied privately with Dr. Florian Mueller of the University of Michigan.

When it came time for college, Dr. Hayes chose Central Michigan University. After graduating from Central Michigan, Dr. Hayes taught at Muskegon Catholic Central High School. While there he led the Muskegon Catholic Central High School Band to its first appearance ever in the State Band Festival and in his second year to its first ever First Division Rating at the State Festival.

After this early success in his career, Dr. Hayes was invited to join the Doctoral Program at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. After completing his Doctorate program at Northwestern, he was then appointed to the staff at Bowling Green University. Bowling Green University has the 5th largest Music Education program in the United States, giving Dr. Hayes a very influential position in the field of music education.

The entire community of Romulus can feel proud of the accomplishments of its own Dr. Glenn Hayes, said Kruse. "We wish Dr. Hayes the best of luck in his career and look forward to having him guest conduct our bands in the near future," he added.

Also, each spring the band students in the 6th and 7th grades go through the ritual of try-outs. Some

The three recipients this year each received scholarships valued at $150. The winners are: Rex Boatright, son of Alfred and Vina Boatright, residing at 34085 McBride, sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Club; Richard Dybicki, son of Walter and Jean Dybicki, residing at 34457 Wick, sponsored by the Romulus Progressive Club; and William Noll, son of Edward and Antoinette Noll, residing at 9444 Chamberlain, sponsored by the Romulus Kiwanis Club.

All are completing the 11th grade at Romulus Senior High School. Thus, they will be returning as seniors to share their Boys' State experience with their classmates next year.

The Boys' State Program duplicates the very process by which the government in Michigan and in Washington D.C. operates. Each young man attending will learn from first-hand experience how to: work within a political party; run for office; achieve legislative goals; evaluate social questions; and work for the common good. Aside from this practical learning experience, each boy learns the priceless lesson of team participation while maintaining his own individuality.

The long-term experience, together with the friendships developed, are not soon forgotten but stay with the boys the rest of their lives.

The ultimate learning experience derived from this program is that each boy leaves with a thorough and working knowledge of how our American system of government can effect change, implement ideas into law, and benefit society as a whole. There is no need for any of America's youth to feel alienated from our society, because there is a way and a need to involve them in the continuing success of America, sponsors say.

Whether the boys attending become directly involved in the actual political process in later life or not, each one of them will join the American scene knowing that anything for the common good is achievable in our system. Perhaps, more importantly, they will each know how to achieve that common good through a peaceful and orderly process, they add.

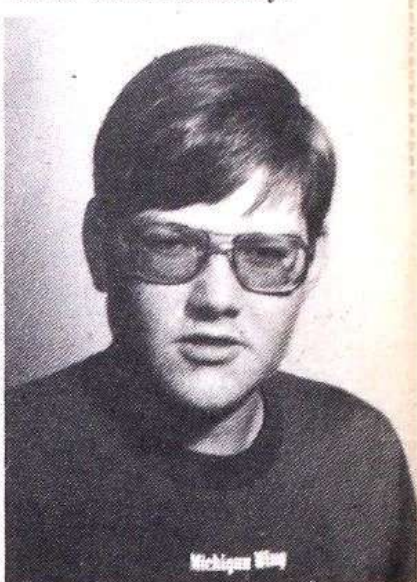

John Domas, Rotary Youth Program Chairman and Romulus High School Counselor, would like to thank the following people for their help, support and assistance in making it possible to send so many well qualified and deserving students to Boys' State: E.L. Sheffield, Romulus High School Principal; Al Wilkerson and William Knight, Romulus High School Counselors; Gerald Nault, Romulus Progresssive Club/Romulus High School teacher; Dave Ferdon, Romulus Kiwanis Club/Romulus High School Teacher; Rod Hanna, Harry Will-nus, Dennis Stoh, Susan Vogel, Ann Scott, all Romulus High School Teachers; and Kathy Hurst, Guidance Office Secretary.

World's at these youngsters' feet

Social Studies in the elementary classroom can be physically enriching as well as culturally expanding. The first grade classes of Patti McCabe and Candance Walters are studying the needs of man by taking a simulated trip around the world. They "fly" from one continent to another via their imaginary 747, complete with flight crew.

No reservations are necessary with the air lines because each flight is actually a 3 to 5 minute jogging session.

While running from Detroit to London, Paris, Hamburg, Ni-ro-bi, Ho Chi Minh City, and Syd-ney, the children have studied climate, shelter, transportation, dress, food, customs, and music. Articles from around the globe have been brought from home and placed in a showcase. Several parents have come in and shared their experiences and knowledge with the groups.

On the next flight, the classes will leave Sidney for Honolulu, Caracas, Juneau, and finally home.

On June 14, the two classes joined Anne Reynolds and Wilma Murphy's second grade students for a mile "Fun Run."

Not only will these youngsters have had a glimpse of different cultures but like all travelers, they will be happy to get home and will have gained an appreciation of what they have.

Besides which everyone will be in great shape to enjoy their summer.
